CENTRAL CHINA HIT BY FLOOD; HUNDREDS DEAD

Food Prices Soar, Crops Damaged—Famine Threatens Stricken Area

DEATH LIST UNKNOWN

Communications Disrupted—Residents Travel Over Streets in Boats

Shanghai—(P)—Vast areas of central China were under water today, hundreds, perhaps thousands, were dead and the prices of foodstuffs soared 30 per cent in many cities as the result of one of the worst floods in 60 years.

Crops were severely damaged, precluding a normal harvest during the coming fall and winter.

An accurate estimate of the death toll could not be attempted because of disrupted communications. It was known that hundreds died in the Wuhan area, comprising the cities of Hankow, Hanyang and Wuchang, when dykes burst their bounds.

A report that 5,000 perished in the Changsha, Hunan, province district was considered exaggerated, however.

The foreign settlements of Hankow were inundated, but there were no casualties among the residents. The 800 foreigners comprising these settlements, including 400 Americans, were forced to make their way about the streets in sampans (Chinese boats).

At Highest Level

The Hankow correspondent of the Associated Press reported that the Yangtze river at that point had risen higher than ever before in the history of modern records. He said the stream was still rising.

Tientsin, Peking and other cities throughout the great central China basin, indicating the widespread nature of the calamity. Nanking itself was partially submerged and thousands were made homeless.

Famine conditions already were reported from Wuhan, Anhwei province, where the boats were looted by hungry mobs.

Heavy rains have fallen over central China almost continuously for the last fortnight. All the large rivers in this area have risen steadily until they overflowed their banks. These include the Yangtze, Siang, Yellow and Hwai rivers, the Grand canal and even the Min river, in distant Fufien province.

The affected area embraces a population of about 200,000,000.

The entire Yangtze valley below Ichang was stricken. Probably the most serious conditions prevailed in the Hankow, Wuchang, Hanyang area and in Anhwei province.

Tientsin, Peking and Hsuehchow were flooded in the north, causing suspension of service on the Tientsin-Peking railway.

JOAN BENNETT HURT IN FALL FROM HORSE

Hollywood, Calif.—(P)—Joan Bennett, screen actress, was in a hospital today with the prospect of remaining there from eight to twelve weeks as a result of injuries she suffered when she was thrown from a horse.

The young actress' left hip was broken and she suffered fractures of the spine. Her physicians said the injuries would heal without any permanent disability.

DOG HOLDS OFF HELP FOR CHILD IN RIVER

Beloit—(P)—Snapping at rescuers, a pet bulldog nearly caused the drowning of Rose M. Fairbairn, 18-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fairbairn yesterday.

The dog prevented children from rescuing Rose after she fell into the Rock river and was swept out in the current. The child's father, fighting on the other side of the stream, jumped in, swam to Rose and rescued her, applying artificial respiration successfully.

New York Gunmen Kill Child, Wound 4

SHOTS FAIL TO HIT INTENDED GANG VICTIM

Assassins Pour Bullets Into Group of Children at Play on Street

New York—(P)—"Big" Ted, described as a bookmaker, was hunted by police today as the map marked for assassination by the gang guns that killed a child and wounded four others last night.

Ted recently attempted to "muscle in" on other bookmakers of the Harlem neighborhood in which the attack occurred, police said.

Police would not say definitely whether they believed the gun attack, in which 5-year-old Michael Vengalla was killed and four other youngsters wounded, was meant for Ted or for members of the Helmar Social club in front of which Ted was standing.

Search of the vicinity of the shooting led to the discovery of two flat-topped shotgun slugs on the south side of the street opposite the club. This led to belief that the gang gunners' fire may have been returned. Police doubted that shotgun slugs would have ricocheted across the street.

New York—(P)—Little Michael Vengalla, to whom five years was a lifetime, died today, and a mantle of silence, born of frantic fear, settled upon Harlem's "Little Italy."

The child was murdered by gang killers in an automobile; killers whose machine guns and shotguns poured between 50 and 60 slugs into the midst of playing children last night.

Four other tots, one in a baby carriage, were critically wounded by the gunmen in a reckless attempt to assassinate a man who had been lolling about the street in which the youngsters had been at play. The man, believed to be Joe Rao or his cousin, Vincent Rao, fell to the pavement and was mortally struck, however, found little Michael Vengalla in a vital spot, and they dropped four of his companions.

Salvatore Vengalla, seven year old brother of the dead boy, was wounded five times. He may die. Michael Bevilacqua, only three years old, who was in a baby carriage, was struck twice in the back by the gangsters' slugs. He, too, may not survive. Florence d'Amelio, 12, was wounded in the shoulder, and Samuel Defino, 6, was shot in the left leg.

Orders were issued today for the arrest of Vincent Coll, leader of one of two gangs fighting for control of the beer business in Harlem and the Bronx. Police said they doubted their earlier theory that the attempted assassination was in connection in any way with the beer war, but they offered no other possible explanation.

Detectives who were ordered into the territory by the score last night and early today, got little help from those who witnessed the shooting. Not one of the parents, stricken by terror, would offer any help. It was not even learned what happened to the man against whom the attack was apparently intended.

The shooting was in front of the Helmar Social club, a poolroom. It was in the adjoining doorway where between 20 and 30 children were at play, that the shots took effect.

SEES ROOSEVELT AS CHALLENGE TO DRYS

Washington—(P)—The view that endorsements of Franklin D. Roosevelt by anti-prohibitionists for the presidency constituted a "challenge" and a warning to the friends of the eighteenth amendment was advanced today by F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league.

Calling attention to the statement of Mayor Cermak of Chicago, that the Democratic governor of New York was "too good" to be acceptable to the wets of the middle west," McBride said:

"The question immediately arises as to whether he is dry enough to be acceptable to the dries of the middle west where the friends of prohibition outnumber its enemies."

"Equally important would be the question as to whether he is dry enough for the dry democracy of the south."

PARLIAMENT MAY BE CALLED BEFORE OCT. 20

London—(P)—Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, told the house of commons today that he did not consider it desirable to make any statement on the international financial situation at this time, but the government would consider summoning parliament, if necessary, before Oct. 20. Parliament is to adjourn Friday.

BENITO MUSSOLINI

Simple Fete For Duce On His Birthday

Rome—(P)—It was the privilege today of Anna Maria Mussolini, 2, and her brother Romano, going on 4 to tweak the ears of the premier of Italy 48 times.

For today was the forty-eighth birthday of their father, and such ear-tweaking by the younger members of the house is an old Italian custom.

The birthday celebration plans were simple, including no provision for the receipt of gifts, for Mussolini does not like personal presents and he has set forth his sentiments many times in stern orders.

"Signore Mussolini" and four of their children were at home at the Villa Torlonia for the birthday. Edmondo Mussolini, who married Count Galeazzo Ciano last year, is in Shanghai, where her husband is Italian consul-general.

At 48, Benito Mussolini is one of Europe's youngest statesmen. His health is excellent and he sticks to the way of life imposed on him by his doctors to offset an ulcer of the stomach. He eats lightly, is an abstemious drinker, rides horseback daily and works hard.

The typical Mussolini day starts at 7 o'clock a. m., when the premier rises and rides in the Villa Torlonia gardens. At 9 o'clock he is at his office, and at 1:30 he is home again for luncheon. Once again at his desk at 3:30 or 4 o'clock, he remains until around 9 p. m., when he has dinner.

The house in which he was born, a modest, two-story dwelling at Doria di Predappio—has become a sort of shrine. In the room where he first saw light there are two black beds, a black iron washstand, a black iron clothes stand, a heavy wooden wardrobe and a chest of drawers, all of them testifying to his humble origin.

FARM YOUTH SLAIN IN EXTORTION PLOT

Victim Shot After He Ignores Commands of Officers to Halt

Brazil, Ind.—(P)—Surrounded by officers on breaking up a plot, they said was an extortion plot, Leonard Courtney, 17-year-old farm youth, was shot and killed by a posse last night as he tried to escape. Police today sought his companions.

The alleged extortionists were trapped by a sheriff's posse at a culvert a mile south of Cory, near here, when a decoy package had been placed. Tom Moschetti, former county commissioner of Cory, was directed several days ago to leave $500 at a spot, under threat that his home would be blown up if he failed to comply.

When Courtney and another youth climbed from their automobile last night, Clayco officers closed in on them. Courtney grabbed the package and ran. After shooting to him to halt, a member of the posse shot Courtney through the head.

The second youth escaped through a cornfield, and one or more persons left in the automobile drove rapidly away.

GIRL FATALLY HURT IN AUTOMOBILE SMASHUP

Heat, Pests Attack Big Area In U.S.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Heat and pestilence continued to march hand in hand today to scourge suffering northwest and central states.

Crops burned by a merciless sun and attacked by hordes of insects and a sweltering population were in the wake.

Although cooler weather has overspread the northern plains, the extreme Mississippi valley and the northern portion of the upper Great Lakes region, the central valleys still prayed for relief.

Forest fires raged over Montana and northern Idaho. In northwestern Minnesota farmers fighting grasshoppers faced a new foe, the army worm which has appeared near Boston and Hibbing.

The grasshopper plague which has been rolling over the Dakotas, Nebraska and Iowa stripping farms of their harvests of fruit and grain, has spread to Muskegonco, Michigan, just across Lake Michigan from Chicago.

The drought has brought almost irreparable damage to corn in northern Iowa, South Dakota, Kansas and Missouri. Parts of Illinois face the same prospects unless rain comes to the rescue.

Chicago's suffering was relieved by a 12-mile an hour wind off Lake Michigan which government forecasters said will definitely break the heat and bring the temperatures tonight within the 70's.

Cooler in Wisconsin
Fair and cool weather returned to Wisconsin today after a fourth extended period of seasonal heat, was routed by soothing northwest winds which accompanied rain storms in northern sections of the state.

The end of the hot came as a relief and prostrations attributed to heat and indirectly to torrid temperatures were mounting again. Three Wisconsin residents were drowned and two others collapsed and died in the final stages of the wave.

Predictions of Frank H. Coleman, Milwaukee weather observer, that the state materially headed toward the state materialized this morning after a sultry night. The weatherman continued fair weather tomorrow with a temperature range of 67 to 82.

POOR STEEL REPORT BRINGS STOCK SLUMP

New York—(P)—Stocks were borne down heavily during the early trading today by the unexpectedly poor earnings statement of U. S. Steel and the dividend reduction on the common shares, but the market lapsed into dullness during the afternoon, permitting some recovery from extreme losses of $1 to $10 in principal issues.

The afternoon recovery, which amounted to a dollar or so in many of the leading stocks, was lost in the last few minutes, however, when renewed pressure was directed against Bethlehem Steel, whose directors meet for dividend action tomorrow.

U. S. Steel, which had dropped $7.62 to $84.75 in the morning, rose to $85.10 and then reacted to $84.62 when it closed for a net loss of $7.12, a record low, off $5.27.

Fear New Gang War After Al Capone Is Imprisoned

Chicago—(P)—After Capone's will do with Capone, but in case he is turned over to me Thursday night, I'll likely send him to the county jail until Friday evening when he will be taken to Leavenworth with the regular group of federal prisoners. He won't get any special favors. He'll just be another prisoner so far as we are concerned."

Johnny Torrio, Dennis Cooney and Frankie R. Capone's bodyguard who served time with his chief in Pennsylvania, are being mentioned in the speculation as to Capone's successor to serve while he is in prison.

The task of efforts to put Al and Ralph Capone in the penitentiary has cost the taxpayers approximately $250,000, federal agents estimated today.

The government's expenditure of $250,000, however, is not without its returns. Al Capone owes the government $215,000 in taxes, and his penalties and interest will bring that sum up to about $400,000. Ralph Capone also owes interest and penalties. Fines can also be imposed on the liquor conspiracy.

PERRY JURORS PAY VISIT TO MURDER SCENE

Judge Accompanies Group to Place Where Mrs. Hackett Was Slain

Eagle River—(P)—A jury of 12 men was chosen in circuit court here today to hear evidence in the trial of George W. E. (Jiggs) Perry, charged with the slaying of Cornelle Hackett, whom he married ignominiously in Chicago.

The jurors are: Don Jefferson, farmer; W. L. Covey, retired salesman; Hart Larson, farmer; David Schlack, merchant; Philip Nurnich, farmer; W. H. Knowles, livestock dealer; Chauncey Falweather, laborer; George Denk, carpenter; John Allison, resort owner; George Sandborn, builder; J. V. Turquist, carpenter; and Paul Schlart, farmer.

Judge C. M. Dawson granted a motion of Defense Attorney J. J. Dolan to visit the scene of the slaying which allegedly occurred July 6, 1930, in a secluded woods near here.

The jurors, Judge Dawson, and other principals in the case were instructed by Sheriff Thomas McGregor to be ready to leave shortly after noon.

The jury was speedily completed when defense and prosecution attorneys, after completing a tentative list of 20 jurors, announced they would use but seven of 13 challenges still due them under a previous agreement.

No Defense Statement

A. J. O'Melia, Rhinelander, special prosecuting attorney, completed his opening statement to the jury at the morning session. Defense Attorney Dolan, Milwaukee, waived his right to an opening statement, paying the way for the starting of testimony when the jury returned from the spot where the body was found.

Mrs. Mary Perry, the defendant's legal wife, summoned as a defense witness, was in the courtroom, seated well back in a corner to which she retired after greeting her errand mate with consoling words.

Mrs. Perry has said she would like to "see her husband through," despite the fact that he left her and their children to engage in the business of marrying women, each of whom he soon left.

Mrs. Hackett, who married him after answering his advertisement for a woman's traveling companion, and

GREEN BAY BOOK STORE BURNS; LOSS IS $20,000

Green Bay—(P)—Fire of undetermined origin last night destroyed the Snavely book store, the oldest business place in Green Bay. It was established in 1858 by F. W. Basche and taken over 20 years ago by the present owner, L. C. Snavely. Damage is estimated at $20,000 partly covered by insurance. Fifteen hundred dollars worth of stock was in school books owned by the school board and dispensed through Snavely.

CRIPPLED MESSENGER SLAIN BY ROBBERS

Los Angeles—(P)—Nathan Black, 19-year-old messenger and a cripple who fought off three bandits Monday in an effort to save his employer's money, is dead.

"I'm glad I managed to save most of the money, anyway," he said before he died yesterday.

The robbers got $2,400 of the $10,000 he was carrying to a bank. The boy, who was unarmed, was the sole support of an invalid sister.

Recovering

DAVID LLOYD GEORGE

Operation On Lloyd George Is Success

London—(P)—David Lloyd George, leader of the Liberal party and former prime minister, was operated on today for a kidney ailment.

It was understood that the operation, which was performed in his London home, was successful. All members of the family arrived at the house over night, and during the operation they sat in a room adjoining the bedroom in which the surgeon worked.

The doctors present included Lord Dawson of Penn, physician-in-ordinary to the king; Dr. Swift, a Harley-st surgeon who is an expert on haematuria, the ailment with which Lloyd George was afflicted; Dr. Howard Humphries, and Major Sir Thomas Carey-Evans, son-in-law of Lloyd George. There were three nurses.

The former prime minister's son, Major Lloyd George, said the patient had a good night. "His condition before the operation was satisfactory," the major explained, "and in the circumstances he was quite cheery." An official bulletin was promised later in the day.

SEVEN SEIZED IN COUNTERFEIT PLOT

$13,920 in Spurious Bills and Printing Apparatus Confiscated

St. Louis—(P)—Police here today disclosed a counterfeit plot with the arrest of six men and a woman and confiscation of $13,920 in spurious bills and apparatus used in printing bogus money.

They ascribed discovery of the plot to the keen observation and suspicion of Mrs. Lorraine, 29-year-old confectionery proprietress, who Sunday brought about the arrest of William Cronin, 47, of St. Louis, as he attempted to pass a counterfeit $10 bill.

Federal authorities and police, after quizzing Cronin yesterday, searched a house here today and found the $13,920 in counterfeit $10 federal reserve bills, a printing press, photostatic copies of federal reserve bills, a pen and ink drawing of a $5 bill and other equipment for counterfeiting. The officers said they obtained confessions from some of those arrested that they passed bogus money and Joseph Donovan, 31, one of those arrested, admitted, police said, he had others $250 for passing the bills.

The six men taken, all of St. Louis, are: Cronin, Donovan, Carmen Duce, 22, Harry Elliott, 43, Robert Krupper, 33, and Al. Scherndorf, 43, and his wife, Anna, 47, proprietors of a bakery where, on the second floor quarters, police said they found the spurious money and apparatus hidden under the floor and in the attic rafters.

The officers also arrested a woman, Mrs. Lorraine, who was found with her husband's money to do with the plot.

The Lindberghs hoped off after a satisfactory final test of their plane's elaborate radio equipment, which had failed to work when the couple flew to Washington Monday for their passports.

ALLOT $102,000 FOR LOCKS, DAMS IN FOX

Washington—(P)—An allotment of $102,000 from rivers and harbors funds for operation and care of the St. Marys Falls canal, Michigan, was approved today by the war department.

The department also approved allotments of $100,000 for operation of the reservoirs on the headwaters of the Mississippi river and $37,500 for the Lake Washington ship canal in the state of Washington.

Allotments also were approved for operation and care of locks and dams as follows:

Missouri river above Wisconsin river, $25,000; Illinois river, $100,000; Fox river, Wisconsin, $102,000; and today.

CONVICTS TO BE SENT TO FOREST AREA TOMORROW

First Contingent from Wau-pun to Start Work in North Wisconsin

Madison—(P)—The first contingent of prisoners from the state prison at Wau-pun will be sent to a forest camp tomorrow to begin the reforestation program proposed by Governor LaFollette. Col. John J. Hannan, president of the board of control, told the legislative interim committee on northern Wisconsin cut-over land and tax problems here today.

A camp has been established at McNaughton near Rhinelander in Oneida-co and the first contingent of prisoners will contain 12 men. In two weeks the board of control expects to have 50 men at the camp, Mr. Hannan said.

The legislative committee was created by the 1931 legislature and held its first meeting here yesterday. C. L. Harrington, state superintendent of forests and parks, told the committee of the methods of forest fire fighting at the present time and detailed the need for equipment.

At today's meeting the committee, headed by Sen. J. H. Carroll, Glidden, as chairman adopted a resolution requesting information on tax delinquency from the county boards of northern Wisconsin counties. The resolution was prepared by George S. Wehrwein of the University of Wisconsin college of agriculture and asks county boards to prepare maps showing the present tax delinquency and the expected delinquency.

To Visit Counties

The legislative committee will visit each county seat in northern Wisconsin in September and October and expects to meet with county boards at that time to discuss tax delinquency and reforestation. Governor LaFollette's plan to use prison labor in reforestation was proposed to the state board of control several months ago. The need of eliminating congestion at the state prison was considered in the proposal.

At the McNaughton camp the prisoners will have about 10,000 acres of state land to reforest. Col. Hannan said. In addition to planting trees, the prisoners will be used for the construction of fire lanes, clearing brush and possibly for fighting forest fires. One man from the state conservation commission will direct the work while guards will be recruited from the prison employees.

MISSING MAN SEEN AT PULASKI, REPORT SAYS

Green Bay—(P)—John Lepak, Jr., Hota Park, who Monday left his clothing and a note stating he planned to "end it all" in his car on the banks of the Suamico river, was seen alive last night in Pulaski, according to word received today by Sheriff Joseph Francis. He has not been definitely located, however.

After discovery of the car and a note, a large search party dragged the stream and beat the woods for half a mile near where the car was found without discovering the body. Lepak's father expressed a belief that the note was a hoax.

LINDY EXPECTS TO HOP TOMORROW FOR OTTAWA

North Beach Airport, N. J.—(P)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh took off at 12:50 p. m. (E. S. T.) today for North Haven, Maine, preparatory to start of their flight to Tokyo.

The Lindberghs hoped off after a satisfactory final test of their plane's elaborate radio equipment, which had failed to work when the couple flew to Washington Monday for their passports.

A favorable tail wind indicated that the flying couple and his family plane radio operator will probably be able to make sufficient speed to arrive at North Haven before dark.

After spending the night at the Morrow estate, the Lindberghs are expected to hop off some time tomorrow for Ottawa, Ontario, on the first leg of their aerial vacation trip to Tokyo.

CAREFUL WATCH IS KEPT ALONG COAST REGIONS

Monoplane Flying Over Dublin Mistaken for One of Two U. S. Planes

NO AUTHENTIC NEWS

Sentinels Keeping Watch Along Coast from Scandinavia to Spain

At 2 o'clock, eastern standard time this afternoon, the two trans-Atlantic planes—of Boardman and Polando and of Herndon and Pangborn—had been out of New York 33 hours.

Absence of any word of their progress was beginning to cause some uneasiness among airmen. Neither plane, however, was as yet in danger of being forced down by lack of fuel.

Herndon and Pangborn's red monoplane carried 850 gallons of gasoline, enough to carry them 5,500 miles without halt. At an average speed of 100 miles an hour, they could travel another 22 hours without landing. The plane, however, was capable of somewhat greater speed, which would cut down the time in the air by a few hours.

The Boardman-Polando plane had 715 gallons of gasoline, sufficient to carry them, they believed, 7,000 miles. At 100 miles an hour—their average speed—this would enable them to stay aloft 70 hours, or until 3 o'clock Friday morning. Their object was to beat the long distance record set by Costa and Le Brix who flew 4,912 miles without stop.

Close watch was being kept for them by coastguards in Ireland. In fact the entire Atlantic coast from northern Scotland down to Spain and Portugal was virtually one string of sentinel posts with observers straining for indication of the airmen's approach.

New York—(P)—Two powerful monoplanes, each carrying two more candidates for trans-Atlantic honors, were presumably flying in the clear and calm ocean airway towards Europe today.

The two planes, the blue and yellow "Cape Cod," piloted by Russell Boardman and John Polando, and the red and orange Beilauna piloted by Hugh Herndon, Jr., and Clyde Pangborn, were believed to have been the ones sighted within 40 minutes of each other yesterday high over southeastern Newfoundland.

The "Cape Cod," left Floyd Bennett airport at 5 o'clock a. m., eastern standard time, and the Herndon-Pangborn craft 15 minutes later. In Newfoundland one plane was sighted over Cape Race at 3 o'clock p. m., eastern standard time. Another plane was sighted at Ramea at 3:35 and over Bay d'Argent a few minutes later. At 3:30 p. m. one plane headed out to sea from Bay Roberts, observers said.

Weather reports from Newfoundland indicated the planes would encounter clear weather, a medium wind and a full moon.

Both planes were undistinguishable because of the speed and great height at which they were flying. It appeared that both were following identical courses, but one was 49 miles behind the other.

Although the Cape Cod took off first, it was only a 300 horse power motor as compared to the 500 horse power motor in the Herndon and Pangborn plane.

Boardman and Polando are flying to Istanbul, Turkey. The other is bound for Moscow, on the first leg of a globe circling flight.

GRAF ZEPPELIN RETURNING

Hamburg—(P)—The Hamburg-American line today received a report from one of its steamers that the Graf Zeppelin was over Nova Zembla this morning.

The steamer company reported, said the dirigible was returning to Leningrad. She expects to reach Leningrad tomorrow.

Berlin—(P)—A report by the Hamburg-American line that the Graf Zeppelin had informed one of its vessels by radio that it had turned back toward Leningrad was interpreted here today as an indication that the weather was unfavorable to further flying.

Prof. Samoilovich, scientific leader of the expedition, said before he left that there would be no unnecessary making of the ship and its crew, and if the weather turned bad the Graf would run to cover.

JOE SALTIS TO FACE GAME LAW CHARGE

Phillips, Wis.—(P)—"Pook Joe" Saltis, one-time Chicago bear brawler who lives as a "gentleman farmer" on his estate near here, was arrested for the third time yesterday on game law violation charges.

Conservation Agents Swift Demme and Jones arrested Saltis near the Winter dam on Chetek river, and charged him with fishing in a refuge. He was instructed to appear in municipal court at Hayward today.

Red Cross Chairman Discusses Relief Work With President

JOINT EFFORTS OF AGENCIES TO BE NECESSARY

Jobless Reports "Not Alarming but Not Bright," Payne Declares

Washington — (AP) — President Hoover today summoned Chairman Payne of the American Red Cross for a conference regarding relief for the unemployed.

After a long conference Payne said that in his opinion it was the beginning of a thorough study of the situation and the start of a co-operative movement among different agencies.

Reports on unemployment, he said, were not alarming but at the same time could not be described as bright.

"The burden of unemployment," he said, "falls on the local community first."

"It is the primary duty of the state, county and municipality to bear the burden of unemployment," he said.

All the agencies of the federal government, the states, counties and municipalities are now working to the same end, he said, and the movement which the president began today looks to having them cooperate more fully.

Questioned as to the part which he expected the federal government to play, the Red Cross chairman replied that there was no possible reason for the federal government being called upon now.

"The place for unemployment relief is in the local communities where everyone knows everyone else," he said.

Also Confers With Croxton

Yesterday the president conferred with Fred C. Croxton, the acting chairman of the national committee for employment. Croxton would make no statement following his conference.

Payne said the Red Cross did not deal with unemployment under its charter, but that he had been summoned for a general discussion of the situation without reference to any part of the Red Cross could play.

Croxton, whose committee was created to keep in close touch with unemployment and to coordinate relief activities, outlined to the Association of Community Chests and Councils in Minneapolis in June plans for mobilizing welfare funds for aid during the fall and winter.

At that time, he proposed as a first step that a national survey be made of towns and cities of 25,000 or over to ascertain local needs and resources for meeting them. He said that whatever the business trend might be during the remainder of the year the demands for relief would be unusually heavy this fall and winter.

Since then Croxton has announced that the Association of Community Chests and Councils, the American Association of Public Welfare Officials and the Family Welfare Association of America had agreed to cooperate in preparations for expected relief calls.

A preliminary report to Croxton's committee from one of the surveys conducted since then has indicated that the relief burden during the coming winter might be double that of last year.

Recent appeals have been made to the Red Cross for help for unemployed miners in West Virginia and other local regions. The Red Cross has refused to extend aid, however, on the ground that unemployment relief was not a local problem and should be extended by the agencies on the ground.

DROP BIGAMY CASE AGAINST HUDSON

But "Ma" Kennedy's Ex-spouse Still Faces Claims for Alimony

Los Angeles — (AP) — Guy Edward Hudson, whom Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, evangelist, called "Ma" Kennedy during her brief marriage to him, today found himself free of a Washington bigamy charge but not of the necessity of responding to alimony claims of a previous undivorced wife, Mrs. Margaret Newton Hudson.

When a message was received from Sheriff G. H. Gray of Kelo, Wash., advising local authorities that extradition for Hudson had been refused because of the expense, the central figure in the recent whirlwind of legal action entered conference with his attorney concerning Mrs. Hudson's divorce and alimony suit.

She asks $250 monthly alimony and attorney fees. The hearing is set for today. The Kennedy-Hudson marriage was annulled last week.

Hudson, as another aftermath of his marriage to Mrs. Kennedy near Longview, Wash., June 23, faces a $250.00 breach of promise suit filed by Ethel Lee Parker Harbert of Los Angeles.

PREPARE TO CLEAR SITE FOR NEW CHURCH

All equipment was removed from the First English Lutheran church Tuesday in preparation for the evacuation of the site on which the new edifice will be built. From now on services will be held at 330 every Sunday morning in the Knights of Pythias hall.

The old church building, which is for sale, must be moved off the premises within the next week, so excavation for the new building can begin.

The Rev. F. C. Reuter and family will continue to live in the parsonage until it becomes necessary to move that building.

"Model" Boys Face Murder Charge

Social workers are puzzled by the strange case of these two Oakland, Calif., boys, until a few weeks ago model high school students, who now face charges of murder and robbery. Joseph Gasparich, left, and Louis Downs, right, say they turned bandits to finance themselves at a military training camp and to buy books. Their career reached a climax when they shot a policeman who they feared had come to arrest them. "We don't know why we did it," they say.

Establish New Pumping Record At Water Plant

A new pumping record was established Tuesday at the pumping station when 4,200,000 gallons of water was pumped, according to A. J. Hall, plant superintendent. On July 29 a record of 3,870,000 gallons was set.

During the evening hours of the past few days, when garden hose sprinklers, shower baths, and fountains are running full blast, the demand for water at the plant has been greater than during the three years ago, Mr. Hall said.

During the fire there was a constant demand for about 5,250,000 gallons while during the past few evenings the demand was well over 6,000,000 gallons, he stated.

The Diesel oil engines have been working overtime to furnish enough water for Appleton residents. The heaviest drain on the city reservoir during the past two days has been between the hours of 10 and 12 o'clock in the morning and 6 and 9 o'clock in the evening.

At 4 o'clock Tuesday morning the city stand pipe was filled to capacity, but a few hours later the water level dropped rapidly, Mr. Hall said.

FLETCHER ASKED TO REMAIN ON DUTY

President Wants Tariff-Chief to Retain Post Until Nov. 15

Washington — (AP) — Chairman Fletcher of the tariff commission has been persuaded by President Hoover to remain two additional months at his post to complete important tariff adjustments.

The former American ambassador to Rome previously had announced that he had planned to terminate his services with the commission Sept. 16. At that time, he said, he had nothing in view.

A White House statement said yesterday President Hoover believes that the commission under the chairmanship of Fletcher had proved that "it can and will make all proper and necessary adjustments" in tariff rates.

"The president appreciates the willingness of Mr. Fletcher to remain another two months," the statement said, "thus giving the commission the benefit of his fine abilities."

Mr. Hoover believes, it said, that the entrance of Mr. Fletcher and the other members have placed the confidence of the public "in the absolutely fair and impartial administration of its important duties."

It added the commission expects that practically all pending investigations and surveys will have been completed by Nov. 15 when Chairman Fletcher plans to retire.

AUSTRALIAN FLIER ARRIVES IN JAVA

Surabaya, Java — (AP) — The Australian aviator, J. A. Molison, flying from Australia to England in an attempt to beat the record of 10 days 23 hours set by C. W. A. Scott, arrived here today from Wyndham, West Australia. He left later for Batavia.

RAILWAY LABOR TO FIGHT WAGE CUT ATTEMPTS

Executives Say Issues Should Not Be Tangled With Rates Question

Washington — (AP) — A warning that organized railroad labor would resist to the utmost all efforts to reduce wages was issued late yesterday as the administration reaffirmed its policy of opposition to a lower wage scale.

The Railway Labor Executives association declared in a statement that agreements existed between representatives of employers and employees and the government "not to permit the pressure of a business depression to be used as the excuse for breaking down the American standard of living."

The statement was made in connection with the application of the railroad for a 15 per cent increase in freight rates in order to meet exigencies occasioned by reduced revenues during the depressed economic situation. The railroad labor executives said the petition of the railroad should be considered by the Interstate Commerce commission on its merits.

"The commission will not lack information, advice and assistance in determining whether railroad revenues can be, and ought to be, increased through freight rates," the statement said. "We are in favor of increases in instances where the facts disclose that such increases are justifiable."

"Unfortunately," it added, "the question of the unreasonableness of railway wages has been injected into the pending proceeding. First through its discussion in the railroad petition, and then through objections to the rate increase offered by various protestants claiming that instead of increasing freight rates the roads should reduce wages. The injection of this issue into the rate hearing is unwarranted."

ORDER HEARINGS ON NEW CODE FOR STORING GASOLINE

State Acts to Prevent Recurrence of Ripon Catastrophe

Two public hearings on proposed regulations for the storage, handling and use of flammable liquids will be held in the state this week, one at Milwaukee at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, and another at Madison at 10 o'clock Friday morning. John W. Weiland, building inspector, and other local persons interested in the new proposals probably will attend.

The proposed regulations, formulated by the Wisconsin Industrial commission, are the aftermath of the two serious fires resulting from gasoline explosions, those at Ripon and Wisconsin Rapids. Because of the huge amount of damage done by these two fires, the commission set out to regulate flammable liquids so future catastrophes of this nature could be averted.

The new rules regulate the storage of quantities of flammable liquids from one gallon up, require a permit for the handling of large quantities, and specify the installation of equipment for storage. The new code takes up underground and overground storage tanks, distances of tanks from property lines, and provides rules that no gasoline can be taken from tank cars without a pump.

"Anyone interested in the survey made by the industrial commission may read the copy of the proposed regulations in the office of the building inspector."

DANCES FOR JUDGE TO PROVE HE ISN'T GUILTY OF ROBBERY

Chicago — (AP) — Senior Lupe Sopo snapped his fingers at a Chicago judge yesterday, danced around his courtroom a bit, and then walked out a free man.

Sopo, was accused by George Vrizza of being one of three men who held him up and robbed him of $1.

"What have you to say for yourself?" asked Judge Matthew D. Hartigan.

"I was just coming from a dance," the prisoner replied. "I was standing in the crowd wondering what the man (Vrizza) was hollering about when I was arrested."

"Can you dance?" asked the judge. Sopo nodded.

"Then prove it," said the court, whereupon a space was cleared and Sopo went to work with a wide Spanish swing and a snapping of fingers.

"I could do better if I had a partner," he said.

"Never mind," replied the judge. "The case is dismissed."

HERE ARE TWO NEW REASONS FOR PLEAS IN DIVORCE COURT

Madison — (AP) — Two new reasons for asking a divorce were heard here yesterday. Mrs. Alice Naffz, Madison, charged among other things that her husband chides her about her flying career and refuses to ride in airplanes with her. A year ago she was injured when her plane crashed. Mr. Naffz is a druggist. Mrs. Max Fisher, 52, Evansville, filing here for divorce, charged among other things that her husband will not take her golfing with him. The Fishers have been partners except on the links for 32 years.

NEW CLEW FOUND IN ARIZONA SLAYING

Investigators Hold Slight Hope of Solving Murder of Research Worker

White River Apache Reservation, Ariz. — (AP) — The possibility of a chance remark falling upon the ears of secret investigators—some of them of Apache Indian blood—seemed today to be the only hope for solving the mysterious slaying of Henrietta Schnerler, young college research worker, who came here to study Indian life.

Under direction of federal authorities, agents mingled with the reservation population, hopeful of hearing an unguarded word that may at least lead to indication whether the slayer was white or Indian.

Sheriff L. D. Divelbiss said the puzzle "seems impossible of solution" but the killing was "not a surprising thing."

He referred to various warnings the girl had received against living unattended in the Apache country. The young woman, 23 years old, working under a research grant of the anthropology department, Columbia university, disappeared July 18. July 24 her body, clad in a square dress and beads was found in a ravine half a mile from the Roosevelt school, at Fort Apache, where she had gone to a dance. Rains had wiped out traces which may have been left by her assailant or assailants.

14 COTTAGERS SIGN PETITION FOR NEW PATROLED HIGHWAY

Town of Harrison Board Pledges Support for Road Improvement

Fourteen cottagers along the north shore of Lake Winnebago have signed petitions for a town patrolled highway from Waverly Beach east on the north side of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad tracks. At the present time the road is a private owned drive, and has not been improved for the past two years.

In former years cottagers along the north shore were members of an association formed for the sole purpose of keeping the road in shape, and each cottager was assessed $10 for grading and graveling each spring.

Until Highway 10 and 114 was paved, the Culmet-co highway commission sent its graders over the private road several times during the spring and summer months to keep the drive in shape, but the highway is no longer patrolled.

A few weeks ago a group of representative cottagers headed by John Hantschel, Outagamie-co clerk, went to Chilton to confer with the culmet-co highway commission. They were told that the road improvement was a project of the town of Harrison and that the county had nothing to do with it.

Several days later the delegation of cottagers held a conference with George Schaefer, chairman of the town of Harrison and were told the town was much in favor of developing the road and would lead a helping hand.

It is believed work on the road will get underway in the near future, according to Mr. Hantschel.

COMMISSION WAITS FOR FEDERAL PERMIT

The city water commission is awaiting a federal permit for installing a new 12-inch water main under the government canal on S. Lawrence, according to A. J. Hall, superintendent of the city pumping station and filtration plant. The extension under the canal is part of the 3,500 feet of main which has been installed from S. Drew-st. across Lawrence college property to a 100 feet above S. Lawrence bridge, across the river to Island-st. and then south on Lawrence to connect with the main on E. South. River-st. When the section is laid under the canal the huge project will be complete, according to Mr. Hall.

MMS. CURIE HONORED BY U. S. RADIOLOGISTS

Paris — (AP) — Mme. Marie Curie, co-discoverer of radium, was the central figure at the Radiological congress today. A delegation from the American College of Radiology bestowed that institution's gold medal on her, after a luncheon. After the presentation Dr. Albert Soland of Los Angeles, the little woman in black and white was highly honored to receive homage "from one of the most important schools of radiology in the world."

"A move for control of X-ray and radium experiments was started by Dr. J. E. A. Lynham of London. Dr. Lynham said the cure of breast cancer, his specialty, would be greatly increased if every radiologist had advantage of the accumulated experience of all other radiologists. He moved for the appointment of executive committee in all countries to accumulate, tabulate, and standardize experiences in the use of X-rays and radium."

JOINT MEETING TO STUDY PLAN OF RELIEF WORK

City Poor Committee to Hold Conference With Char- ity Workers

The city poor committee will meet with the heads of local relief societies at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at city hall to discuss poor relief for next winter. Heads of the local committee on employment relief, of the Home Aid society, German Ladies Aid, Council of Jewish Women, City Relief society and the Catholic Apostolate have been asked to attend.

The common council at a meeting last week decided that a joint meeting of a city committee and representatives of the local relief organizations would be the best method of arriving at some plan of relief for the city next year. It was also decided to have the engineer prepare plans and estimates for the construction of sewers as a method of relieving the unemployment situation.

STATE J. C. G. WILL HOLD PICNIC AUG. 16

Appleton Chamber to Send Delegation to First An- nual Meet

Members of Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce have started preparations for the first annual picnic of the state junior chamber to be held Sunday Aug. 16 at Hollywood park, Fond du Lac.

Oshkosh Jaces will sponsor the affair and delegations are expected from Oshkosh, Appleton, Milwaukee, Eau Claire, Green Bay, Sheboygan and Mayville. The park is about half way between Oshkosh and Sheboygan and has been the scene of annual Fond du Lac-Sheboygan picnics for several years. Appleton was invited after its organization last year and the rest of the state for the first time this summer.

In case of rain the affair will be postponed until Sunday, Aug. 23, according to Walter Haefl, Oshkosh, state J. C. G. picnic chairman. In joining the other groups in the state picnic, the Milwaukee organization will abandon plans for holding its own large picnic at home.

The program as arranged to date includes inter city competition in softball, horseshoes, relay races and a tug of war. Other games may be added later and dancing probably will be on the evening program.

Local game chairman are Don Babcock, ball; James Grace, horseshoes; Clarence Harvey, tug of war; George Laborde, races. Final plans for the event probably will be made at a meeting on Sunday, Aug. 2, at some central point. David Bender is Appleton picnic chairman.

Boys Have Much To Learn To Get Life Saving Badge

Swimming may be lots of fun but it means a week of hard work to 19 boys who began their first lesson in junior life saving at the Y. M. C. A. this afternoon. After seven classes the group will be tested by W. S. Ryan, instructor and physical director.

When these boys have earned their life saving emblem they will be able to dive seven feet under the surface of the water and retrieve a 10 lb. sandbag, swimming to shore with it. They learn to disrobe completely in water over their heads and swim 100 yards afterwards using three different strokes. The most difficult of these is swimming on the back without using the arms, while the other two strokes are the side overarm and crawl. In order to cope with a victim who struggles in the water, the class will learn how to break several strangle holds and how to tow the victim 50 feet after the hold is released.

The class will be instructed how to carry a person several different ways through the water, how to assist a swimmer who has become tired, how to manage a struggling person and how to properly approach a drowning person under water, from the back and face to face. Resuscitation by the Schaefer method is another part of the life saving test.

Start Negotiations Looking Toward Subway Near Asylum

STATE HOPES TO GET STARTED ON WORK THIS YEAR

Confer With Farmers Whose Land Is Needed for Grade Separation

W. C. McLendon, representing the district highway office at Green Bay and Frank Appleton, county highway commissioner, will confer with Robert McCoy and John Weber, farmers residing on Highway 10 near the Chicago and Northwestern railway crossing at the county asylum, Saturday morning on estimated damages to property if a subway is constructed under the railroad tracks there.

The men conferred a few days ago on the project but postponed further action until Saturday at which time real estate appraisers also will be called in on the conference.

Estimate Damages

Action to estimate damages is the first step of the state highway commission toward construction of one of the two subways in Outagamie county, of which is expected to start this year.

The other subway is to be at McCarthy crossing but is being held up pending request of valley cities for rerouting of Highway 41 through Wrightstown and eliminating the McCarthy crossing and one at Brownsville known as the Van der Hei crossing.

Plans for the proposed subway were brought here for the conference a few days ago. A copy of the plans is expected by Frank Appleton, county highway commissioner Thursday.

Securing of easements and determining property damages resulting from the subway are expected to cause whatever delay may be encountered in building. About two acres of ground will have to be secured from the county asylum property and entrance to the highway will have to be provided for the farmers whose present drives will be several feet above the road when the subway is constructed.

Building new outlets for the farmers is expected to be expensive. The sloping sides of the subway will come almost to one of the farmer homes.

Outagamie must acquire the necessary land for the subway and later will be reimbursed by the state. The subway will drain into Mud creek, according to present plans.

FEWER TRAPPERS IN COUNTY LAST YEAR

Trapping Licenses, Tags in 1930 Half Number Issued in 1929

Trapping restrictions have caused a decrease of almost half in the number of tags and licenses issued in 1930 as compared with 1929, a check by John H. Hantschel, county clerk, revealed today.

Mr. Hantschel's report for 1930 also reveals that 1,132 deer tags were issued last year which might indicate that mighty few hunters who had tags got bucks.

Trapping licenses issued in 1930 were 976 as compared with 1,616 in 1929. Tags for traps also were much less, the 1929 figure being 15,475 and the 1930 figure 8,410.

An increase in the number of hunting licenses issued last year over 1929 was noted. The 1929 figures were 3,601 licenses and the 1930 figures 4,286 licenses. There were 240 live decoy bands issued last year as compared with 229 in 1929. 48 set line permits as compared with 33 in 1930, and 17 non-resident fishing licenses as compared with 39 in 1929.

YOUNGSTER INJURED IN FALL FROM PIER

The second accident in four days occurred at the municipal swimming pool Tuesday evening when Frank Steenis, Appleton boy slipped from the high diving pier and fell to the wood platform below. The youngster suffered a deep cut over his right eye and an injured leg.

The high pier was removed Wednesday morning by city employees to prevent further accidents, according to Thomas Ryan, Jr., caretaker. Last Saturday night Leo Sofia was injured when he dived off the springboard into an empty pool after closing hours.

ATTIC IN ROSENBERG HOME DAMAGED BY FIRE

Fire believed to have started from a blow torch used to remove paint caused damage estimated at $800 at the Jack Rosenberg residence, 1599 N. Meadest, Wednesday morning.

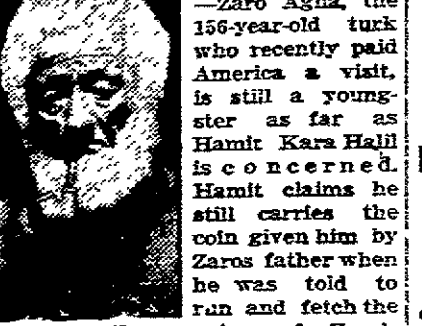

Chief George P. McGinnis, who investigated, said he believed flames from the blow torch penetrated an opening under a gable and set fire to the attic. The blaze was battled for 20 minutes before it was extinguished.

Stupidity Is Called Chief Cause Of War

Denver, Colo. — (AP) — War can be stopped because the principal cause of fighting is stupidity, Count Hirota of Tokyo, told the World Federation of Education associations meeting in its fourth biennial conference today.

Count Hayashi, who is president of the Japanese Imperial Education association and a member of the house of peers, spoke on the fighting instinct and its utilization for peace.

"Animals fight," he pointed out, "because their intelligence is limited. They lack ingenuity to solve the problems of group life. Men are rational beings. We must find means to solve our difficult problems without engaging in war."

"But," he continued, "we do not know whether at this stage of civilization, we are ready to stop war. Still we must try to solve it intelligently, even by means of international interference."

He declared the fighting instinct in man must change its mode of expression to the never aspect of culture.

Edward J. McNamara, principal of the High School of Commerce of New York summarized social approaches to business education and said that one of the chief aims of education is social efficiency.

"This means," he said, "that young people must be prepared not only for citizenship but for life as a member of a family, a club, a vocation or a church. It does not mean that all should be turned out in the same mould or that education should be standardized."

Attention to the health of the school child was emphasized by Dr. Thomas D. Wood, New York, chairman of the committee on the school child at the while House conference on child health and protection.

"With increasing frequency," he said, "educational leaders give emphatic recognition to health as the first and indispensable objective in the educational program."

FIRESTONE COMPANY GETS COUNTY CONTRACT

The contract was on the basis of estimated needs for the year and the Firestone company bid was $1,534.30. The company also agreed with the committee that at the same price if there is need for more, The Firestone bid was the lowest on all sizes offered by the best companies, in the opinion of the committee.

HEAR THREE APPEALS ON BUILDING PERMITS

Three appeals, from C. B. Peterman, William Pope and Arthur Gutu, will be considered at a meeting of the board of appeals at city hall at 7:30 Monday evening. Mr. Peterman is petitioning to building a garage at 208 N. Rankin-st. and Mr. Pope wishes to build an addition to a garage at 749 N. Durkeest. Both conflict with the ordinance regarding setbacks. Mr. Gutu is requesting permission to build an addition to a garage for residence purposes at 1295 W. Lorain-st.

NEW OPTIMISM IN GERMANY ON PRESENT CRISIS

Public as Well as Leaders Greatly Encouraged by Visit of Britons

Berlin. — (AP) — The roar of the plane carrying Prime Minister MacDonald home had hardly died away over the rooftops of Berlin today when Chancellor Bruening and Foreign Minister Curtius, who had bade him farewell at the airport, were the midst of another urgent cabinet meeting deliberating Germany's next move to overcome her economic crisis.

The situation is still menacing and there are grave technical and financial as well as political difficulties, but the government faces its problems with a new confidence arising from the visit of the prime minister and his foreign secretary, Arthur Henderson.

It was clear from the start that no immediate concrete aid such as a big foreign credit was to be expected from their visit, but the friendly attitude which characterized the Anglo-German meeting was an immense encouragement not only to the German statesmen but to the German people.

Mr. MacDonald's repeated reference to the fundamental soundness of Germany's position, and his assertion of a belief that the country is strong enough to pull itself through did much to remove the discouragement which has been deeply rooted in some sections.

Pleased by Friendship
Progress also was made in other directions, but the achievement which is obvious even to those who had not the slightest idea of what was being discussed is the definite manifestation of Great Britain's friendship.

The immediate question which occupied the cabinet today was consideration of what will happen when the banks are reopened.

It is expected that normal banking activities with the exception of those of the savings banks, will be resumed by Monday, and if there should be heavy withdrawals from commercial accounts the banks will need a large additional supply of currency. The cabinet and Reichsbank officials and industrial leaders are trying to figure out where they are to get it, and it is possible that some emergency medium of exchange similar to the clearing house certificates used in the United States in 1907 may be called into play and that Reichsbank notes may be called into use.

Meanwhile it appeared likely that Chancellor Bruening and Dr. Curtius might leave the capital again next week to visit Premier Mussolini in Rome. He invited them to Italy after the conference at Chequers with Prime Minister MacDonald.

ORDERLY CROWD HEARS BAND-PLAY CONCERT

An appreciative and orderly crowd last night heard the 130th field artillery band play its regular weekly concert at Pierce park. The orderliness of the throng and the behavior of young people was especially noticeable after last week's trouble. Credit has been given Appleton police department and park attendants for the manner in which they kept order.

The only complaint registered last night was the noise from a motorcycle whose driver decided to move during the program. Director Edward P. Mumm has asked that people with cars and motorcycles who drive into the park either stay until the end of the concert or park on Prospect-st.

Last night's concert featured numerous well known band numbers and a piccolo solo, "Skyline," by Charles Kellman. A band number which included many old time favorites also made a hit with the crowd.

ONLY AMATEURS GET PRIZES AT FLOWER SHOW

Flower and Garden Society Adopts Rules for Fall Exhibition

Ten rules for the annual fall show of the Flower and Garden society were formally adopted at a meeting of the society in the chamber of commerce offices Tuesday evening. The show is to be held the latter part of August at Armory G.

One of the important rules is that only amateurs may compete for premiums, and that professionals or semi-professionals may enter exhibits but will not receive cash prizes. It was pointed out that an amateur is an exhibitor who derives no revenue from the sale of flowers, bulbs or shrubbery.

The society also ruled that no exhibitor shall receive more than one premium in any one class. Containers for artistic arrangement must be furnished by the exhibitors, but containers for all other flowers will be furnished by the society.

Prizes may be withheld at the discretion of the judges whose decision shall be final. The society ruled that quality and not quantity counts where amounts are not specified in exhibits. Exhibits must be in by 11:15 on the morning of the first day of the show, and all flowers entered must be grown by exhibitors.

Exhibitors will not be permitted to disturb or work exhibits without the consent of the committee in charge, and all prizes and ribbons are to be mailed to winners.

Plans are underway to have the Wisconsin department of agriculture again enter an exhibit.

Committees for the August show are to be named at another meeting of the society in the chamber offices at 7:30 next Monday evening.

MAY DEPORT FORMER OFFICER OF AMTORG

Labor Department to Decide Whether Ivan Matveef May Stay in U. S.

Washington. — (AP) — The labor department today was studying the case of Ivan Matveef, former vice president of Amtorg, Russian trading organization, to ascertain whether he has forfeited his right to remain in this country.

Matveef several weeks ago was notified his permit would expire July 31 and he must leave the country. Large machine tool manufacturers telegraphed the labor and commerce departments urging the Russian be permitted to remain.

The record shows he came to the United States as an employee of the Metal Import corporation, a Russian concern. He later, added to his duties that of vice president of Amtorg which, although a Russian-owned concern, is organized under American laws.

Under immigration rules his automaticity with Amtorg constituted a change in occupation which automatically cancelled his permit. But W. W. Husband, assistant secretary of labor, said today that Matveef was no longer an official of Amtorg. This information resulted in a decision to study the case further with the possibility that the permit might be extended.

Both Husband and Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, said that the two departments were cooperating in the case.

Klein said his department had refrained from doing anything that might be considered an effort to influence the immigration authorities.

DOCTOR SAYS WOMEN SUFFER FROM MORE DISEASES THAN MEN

Many of These Conditions Are Connected With Childbirth

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

Some years ago the Commission on Medical Education, after studying the cases in the practice of numerous general practitioners, came to the conclusion that 90 per cent of the diseases of women are connected with the examination of 12,618 people. The women included workers of all types, housewives, clerks in stores and those serving in the various professions. Many of the conditions from which the women suffer are connected with childbirth. The rates among women for diseases of the heart, neuritis, nervousness and abnormal reflexes. Women have varicose veins more frequently than men and also valvular lesions of the heart.

On the other hand, the only conditions in which there is a definite excess in the rate for men are defects of septum in the nose, thickening of the heart, frequent colds and pneumonia. Just why men should have nose and throat troubles so much more than women is of great interest but the reason is not clear.

When the figures for housewives were studied in relation to all of the women, it is found that they suffer more frequently from some conditions than women in general. In general, the housewives are married to a far greater extent than are other women workers, the explanation lies in the fact that the conditions concerned are definitely associated with childbirth.

Women have far more disturbances of the thyroid than do men. They complain much more of tenderness in the region of the gall bladder and appendix.

As the age at which disease occurs is concerned, the ages in both groups seem to be the same. Sex differences in the occurrence of various diseases are factors which interest physicians greatly, particularly in the matter of making a diagnosis. There was a time when certain diseases were limited almost exclusively to men, even though they did not originate in organs peculiarly masculine. Since women have come to a large extent out of the home and into the industry and into similar politically active positions, they begin to show disturbances which were formerly limited almost wholly to men.

In the past the life expectancy of women was in general greater than that of men at any given age, and among people living to 100 years of age there would usually be more women than men. Equality of effort and associated therewith equality of exposure makes it likely that in the future this distinction will not maintain.

MURDER SCENE IS VISITED BY PERRY JURORS

Prosecutor Outlines Case in Opening Statement in Brakeman's Trial

after hearing stories of his forthcoming inheritance from a wealthy "aunt," was found slain on the Lac du Flambeau Indian reservation, near the summer resort at which they had spent a honeymoon.

Perry, neatly-dressed, nervously watched the selection of tentative jurors yesterday. Of 40 examined, there remained 13 against whom no objection had yet been raised. The court was recessed early so deputy sheriffs could recruit others, because only a total of 6 of the 24 preliminary challenges had been used by attorneys.

It was though possible a jury might be completed by late today. In another section of the courtroom, Mrs. Kathryn Gebhart Perry, Cleveland, O., whom Perry married bigamously, watched the proceedings. She had been summoned as a prosecution witness and spoke to none of the courtroom crowd.

Mrs. Gebhart, who obtained a divorce from Perry in Cleveland July 23, was called here as a witness by District Attorney Drager. In her divorce petition the woman described herself as "just one" of the seven wives of the Milwaukee brakeman.

Attorney O'Melia in the opening statement said the state was prepared to prove that on June 21, 1930, Perry contracted a bigamous marriage with Cora Belle Hackett, a widow, in Chicago and that on the following day the couple arrived at the Lac du Flambeau resort on their "honeymoon." The prosecutor said Perry was without funds and told acquaintances, including Mrs. H. W. Parker, wife of the resort owner, that he had obtained a divorce in Mexico from his former wife.

As newlyweds, the prosecutor continued, Perry and Cora Belle Hackett lived in a resort cottage near here and spent much of their time strolling in the woods. On several occasions Perry borrowed a small calibre rifle from the resort owner, declaring he wanted target practice.

On July 6, the day the woman allegedly was slain, O'Melia said, Perry again borrowed the rifle about 9 o'clock a. m. and his "wife" borrowed a pair of boots from Mrs. Parker in preparation for an outing. About two hours later Perry returned alone and returned the weapon with the announcement, "It's a good shooting gun."

The state also will show, O'Melia said, that Perry suddenly announced a decision to leave the resort, telling Mrs. Parker that his "wife" had gone to Minocqua with a friend and that he was to meet her there. His agitation was so great, the attorney said, that Mrs. Parker had to help him pack the woman's clothes which he carried away in her automobile.

On the day following Perry's hasty departure, Attorney O'Melia said, Perry phoned "wife No. 2," Mrs. Kathryn Gebhart Perry, at Cleveland from a point somewhere south of Milwaukee and asked whether he could return to that city. She assured him he was welcome and he proceeded to that city.

Perry "Changed Man"
Attorney O'Melia indicated Mrs. Gebhart was ready to testify that Perry was a "changed man" when he visited her. The prosecutor said Perry, who formerly played the part of a polished gentleman, flew into rage at the least provocation, and cried bitterly as he explained the woman's clothing he carried was a gift from a deceased aunt.

Perry finally left Cleveland without revealing his destination, O'Melia said, and arrived in St. Louis Sept. 17, where he registered at a hotel under his right name but giving himself as "John A. Perry." He lived there until Oct. 8 when newspapers carried stories on the identification of Mrs. Hackett's body and pictures of himself. From that time on Perry traveled under an alias until he was captured in San Francisco last May, the speaker said.

O'Melia said the state would show the course of the bullet which caused Mrs. Hackett's death indicated that a person smaller in stature fired the shot. Perry, he said, was shorter than Mrs. Hackett.

The prosecutor concluded his statement with the admission that some of the forthcoming testimony would be circumstantial, but that all of it would not be.

GRASSHOPPERS LAY WASTE TO CROPS IN WEST

Farmers and State Govern- ments Faced With Per- plexing Problem

Chicago (CPA) — A grasshopper invasion, approaching in destructive-ness the locust plagues of the last century, is devastating a wide area of farm country in northern Ne-braska, southeastern South Dakota and northwestern Iowa.

Farmers and state governments have been caught unprepared to meet the insect menace. Although over $100,000 has been spent by gov-ernment units, with individual farm-ers adding their efforts and expend-itures the hoppers have increased in numbers and in appetites. Now an area of nearly 11,000 square miles is reported to be affected and an ap-ear has been made for federal aid, which is not yet forthcoming.

These pests, always present in the plains states in numbers sufficiently large to be bothersome but not par-ticularly destructive came through the mild winter in unusual numbers. There was a light snowfall through-out the affected territory and warm weather kept the hoppers from win-ter destruction. A hot dry spring and summer added to the ideal set-up for their propagation and growth.

Start in Nebraska
The destruction started in north-ern Nebraska, when grain was at-tacked. The pests by the millions would move over a field, eating the green part of the plants. The bigger the grasshoppers grew the more de-structive they became and now they are reported attacking corn with de-vastating effect in some areas.

Much of the destruction has oc-curred in farming sections which are not the most productive. The Rosebud section of South Dakota, where a large reservation area is farmed by Indians, according to stories re-ceived here, has been completely eaten over. Now the hoppers are said to have eaten their way up into the rich farming section around Mitchell, S. D., and are reported in numbers in the corn area of north-ern Iowa.

Entomologists advise that unless steps are taken to destroy the pests they may come through the next winter in such numbers that they will lay down a real plague over a wide section of rich farm land in the middle west. This year most small grain was matured before the hop-ping insects developed large appet-ites and corn stands a good deal more eating than wheat or oats or barley.

In some sections, the hungry grasshoppers have eaten wide swaths across fields and farmers have been taken to task for the pest-ils they may come through the next winter in such numbers that they will lay down a real plague over a wide section of rich farm land in the middle west. This year most small grain was matured before the hop-ping insects developed large appet-ites and corn stands a good deal more eating than wheat or oats or barley.

STATE FAIR TO SHOW CHAMPION LIVESTOCK

Wisconsin Exhibits on Par With International Dairy Shows

Madison (AP) — Face-setting exhib-its in livestock are promised for the state fair which will be held at the state fair park in West Allis, Aug. 29 to Sept. 4.

According to A. O. Collentine, superintendent of the cattle divi-sion, the exhibits at Wisconsin's fair will pace North America, and he says a large number of all-Amer-ican champions have received their start at the West Allis exposition to prove the standard of the exhibit.

"Wisconsin's dairy show is ranked on a par with the International Dairy show and the National Dairy show," Mr. Collentine says. "Last year, one class had over a dozen entrants where experts stood back, saying that almost any one of the animals was worth a championship ribbon."

To testify further to the position of the state fair showing, Charles L. Hill, commissioner in the state department of agriculture and mar-kets, who now is in Denmark at-tending the World's Dairy congress has sent back word that the Wis-consin show is larger than the Ring-stead show, a famous Danish ex-hibit.

THE COST OF GOVERNMENT

The annual cost of our national, state and local governments is about thirteen billion dollars. One person out of every nine in gainful employment is engaged in public service. This is the reason why, in the average community, taxes have doubled and trebled in the last ten years. The mounting cost of government, particularly of local government, is challenging the taxpaying ability of the country.

In some communities tax delinquency is running as high as seventy per cent. The volume of tax sales everywhere, and the financial distress of many units of government, afford proof of the excessive costs of government.

Let us journey away from home and take Michigan as an example. It is rather a typical state. Taxes for the year 1928 were returned delinquent on 9,113,883 acres of land and 973,109 village lots for $3,047,435 unpaid state taxes and $25,782,003 unpaid local taxes, or the enormous total of $28,829,438 of delinquent taxes. This exceeded by over eight million dollars the entire state property tax levy. In 1931 there were sold for 1928 taxes more than 450,000 parcels of property. Ninety per cent of the heavy burden is due to the cost of local government.

In Michigan there are 47,355 elective officers, or one elected official for every 18 votes cast for governor in 1930. Add to these the appointive officers, deputies, clerks and employees, and the total runs into additional thousands. There are nine contiguous counties (and the identical situation exists in many sections of the country) with an entire population of only 47,031 and assessed valuation of $31,585,890, each of which maintains a separate county government, county court and jail, and in such counties are 93 township governments, with 93 sets of township officers, 14 village and city governments, several hundred school districts and many minor officials. This means one separate governmental unit for each twenty voters and each $71,710 of assessed valuation.

The township as a unit is a relic of the horse and buggy age. Modern means of communication have vastly increased the size of the neighborhood. A township now can be logically compared to the section of a generation ago.

The greatest source of revenue today is in public economy. In this country we are efficient in many things but not in government. Democracies can be made efficient only by the will of the people, and at the present pace of increasing costs of government, the public must act before confiscatory taxation drives people out of their homes, off their own land and out of their own individual businesses.

Excessive tax burdens, particularly those of local governments, constitute the severest blow individualism in America has ever received. The desire "to live by no man's leave underneath the law" is still a fundamental concept of our life. To pass on this heritage to our children demands foresight and prudence in order to curb unnecessary expenditure of public money.

OXMAN IS DEAD

A short time ago the Wickersham commission, with its prestige materially shattered by the maltreatment of its prohibition report, declared that the trial of Mooney and Billings in California some fifteen years ago was an outstanding travesty upon the administration of justice. And now Frank C. Oxman, "the honest witness" upon whose testimony these men were convicted, is dead in his Oregon home.

It was Oxman who declared that he saw the defendants deposit the suitcase loaded with death at the street intersection. But after the defendants were convicted a letter Oxman wrote to Ed Rigall of Illinois to "come to San Francisco as an expert witness" and "you'll only have to answer three questions and I will coach you on them. You will get mileage and all that a witness can draw, probably a hundred in the clear. I thought you can make a trip and see California," was discovered, admittedly in Oxman's handwriting.

Although Rigall went out he refused to be coached or to take the stand and, with the blackest perjury imaginable, attempt to send men to their doom.

Little wonder the Wickersham commission denounced the Mooney-Billings trial.

No one of us, of course, can know whether the defendants are guilty. But all of us do know that they should not be punished unless credible evidence is produced to prove their guilt.

"ERIN GO BRAGH"

"She's the most distressful country That ever you have seen, They're hanging men and women there

For wearing of the green."

National well being seems to follow the same uncertain and sometimes treacherous line that marks the footsteps of men.

A nation is up today and down tomorrow, just as men follow the same fortunes.

For over a century Ireland was drained of her manhood, not merely by golden dreams of America and Australia, but because the conditions of authority and rulership were of such a nature that the Irish would not tolerate them.

Now, for the first time in ever so long, more people are moving back to Ireland than leaving it.

Always "a haunted land of beauty" the Free State of Ireland today occupies not only an attraction for the eye but for the body as well, for its economic stability is the marvel of this world so weary of depression and its ills.

Its agriculture is in good condition. It is without unemployment. It is exporting as much as formerly. The tax rate has actually been lowered. Its standing army has been reduced from fifty to five thousand. Let the world take note of that.

Its national obligations are not great. It now borrows money when it needs it on the same basis that Canada and Switzerland borrow, and hardly a greater compliment could be paid to the handling of its finances than that.

It is a just compensation, a fair requital for ages of comfortless existence. Its people who fought the crushing heel of alien authority for centuries and became scattered to all the corners of the globe never even thought of quitting the fight. And so again, "the harp that once thro' Tara's Halls the soul of music shed" hangs no longer mute but plays out the ecstatic, thrilling melody inspired by men who freely govern themselves.

AERIAL PROGRESS

New air records are coming so fast folks are getting dizzy. The marvels of air achievement have become commonplace, so swiftly have they accumulated within the short space of a few years.

Having circled the earth, touched both poles, traveled at a speed of almost six miles per minute and soared to a height of some eight miles above sea level, aviation has progressed within the short space of twenty years far beyond the wildest flights of fancy.

Along with the spectacular feats of endurance, speed and altitude, commercial aviation is reaching beyond the infant state. It is becoming a respected competitor of other means of transportation, principally for passengers.

Extremely efficient and serviceable air craft are now flying the airways. From New York comes the news that within a month a new forty-passenger flying boat will be given its first trials, inaugurating a service which presages early transatlantic air travel.

This plane, with a sister ship now being constructed, will, for the present, fly between Miami and Columbia, a distance of 1,350 miles, only 50 of which is overland. The ship is designed to sail the surface of the sea under most adverse conditions.

One can hardly doubt the near approach of regular transatlantic service particularly in the summer. Since 1919 when the United States flying boat NC-4 made the crossing from New Foundland to Portugal by way of the Azores, the Atlantic has been successfully flown sixteen times, all but two flights being made since 1927.

Each successive flight becomes less a stunt and more an intelligent and scientific accomplishment of a rapidly developing industry. Men are learning and doing phenomenal things in this new line of endeavor.

SKIMO, frostbite, chilblains, icicles . . . Yeah, we just went out and looked at a thermometer, buried in the shade . . . It said only 32 . . . immediately we remembered what the state health official said about slackening down on work when the temperature gets that high . . . will the boss please note? . . . and the vacation starts in a couple of days . . . somebody predicted rainstorms and cold weather all next week . . .

Milwaukee has finally come to it. Yeah, throwing ticker tape and confetti at Trans-Atlantic fliers. Thought that practice might be confined to N'Yawk and Chicago. Besides, if they keep flying the Atlantic at the same rate they've been going, there won't be enough ticker tape—the way the stock market is—to supply the demand.

Maybe He Was Gonna Change His Mind

(From the story on the marriage of Princess Helena and Prince Anton) "The religious ceremony . . . took place in the large hall of the palace before about 300 guests. Helena said her 'yes' in a loud, firm voice; Anton's was scarcely audible."

We were looking at a picture of Emperor Ras Tafari of Abyssinia the other day, which showed Ras wearing a $500,000 crown. And from the look on his face, the crown represents just about all Ras uses his head for.

It's said that the grain trade may someday be back in the farmer's hands. Which is nice. After all, the farmer DOES grow the stuff.

The presidential race for 1932 is getting under way. Pictures of Governor Franklin Roosevelt shaking hands with a small boy admirer are already being published. Yep, Al Smith is in the picture, too.

It's the Weather

A rum runner got stranded on the Florida coast and he got stranded on a bar . . . and then up swam two man-eating sharks and the bar tender said "Watch you have, genies?" . . . and the man-eating sharks said, "Yes, genies," and the bar tender said, "Wouldn't a couple of ladies do?" . . . Will somebody please stop us?

They fired a Chicago cop for "gossiping." Just what the punishment for accepting bribes and protection money and performing such little maneuvers ought to be we don't know, now. But we're glad to see that occasionally a gossipier gets a little of what is coming to him (or her).

Col. Lindbergh is about to—or has already—leave on his hop to the Orient. Millions of American men are wishing him luck, but they can't quite see why Charles had to take the wife along.

DIFFERENCE OF CHOICE

He shook his head and sharply said: "He never walks a garden through, Knows not delphiniums are blue And ornamental poppies red. His life is but a strife for bread; His only thoughts of monies due."

Of him the other with a sneer Unto his next-door neighbor spake: "Behold him there with hoe and rake, Wasting his time and chances here, Spending the daylight of the year, Merely a garden patch to make!"

And still a third man from his book Glanced up and said: "What fools are they To spend their lives in such a way! To printed truths they never look. One glories in a pruning hook, The other thinks of cash all day!"

Each to his talent and his power Must let his inner-self expand, One would the world of trade command. One finds his joy in bud and flower. To books the third gives many an hour. And each the two must understand. (Copyright, 1931, Edgar A. Guest)

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Wednesday, August 1, 1906
Nomination papers for Jackson C. Rosebush for member of the assembly from the First District had been filed with County Clerk A. A. Raisler. Gustave Keller had returned from a brief business trip to Milwaukee.

Mrs. William Houston was spending a few days at the home of friends and relatives at Marinette. Henry Schultz and son returned the previous day from a two weeks' vacation trip through Shawano-co.

E. M. Leeman left the previous day for Milwaukee where he was to spend two weeks on a business trip.

Miss Elizabeth Walsh who had been spending a week with friends in Milwaukee, had returned to her home in Appleton.

The Misses Hilma and Tina Gluckstein were to leave the following day on a week's visit with friends and relatives at Tipton and Two Rivers.

Mrs. Arthur Irving and Miss Daisy Rogers left the previous day for Nashville where they expected to spend a week with relatives of the latter.

TEN YEARS AGO

Wednesday, July 27, 1921
The lure of the Canadian Rockies that day claimed the life of Dr. W. E. Stone, president of Purdue university and one of the country's leading educators. His body was found jammed between two sharp jetties of rock at the base of Mount Assen, where he had fallen while attempting to rescue his wife.

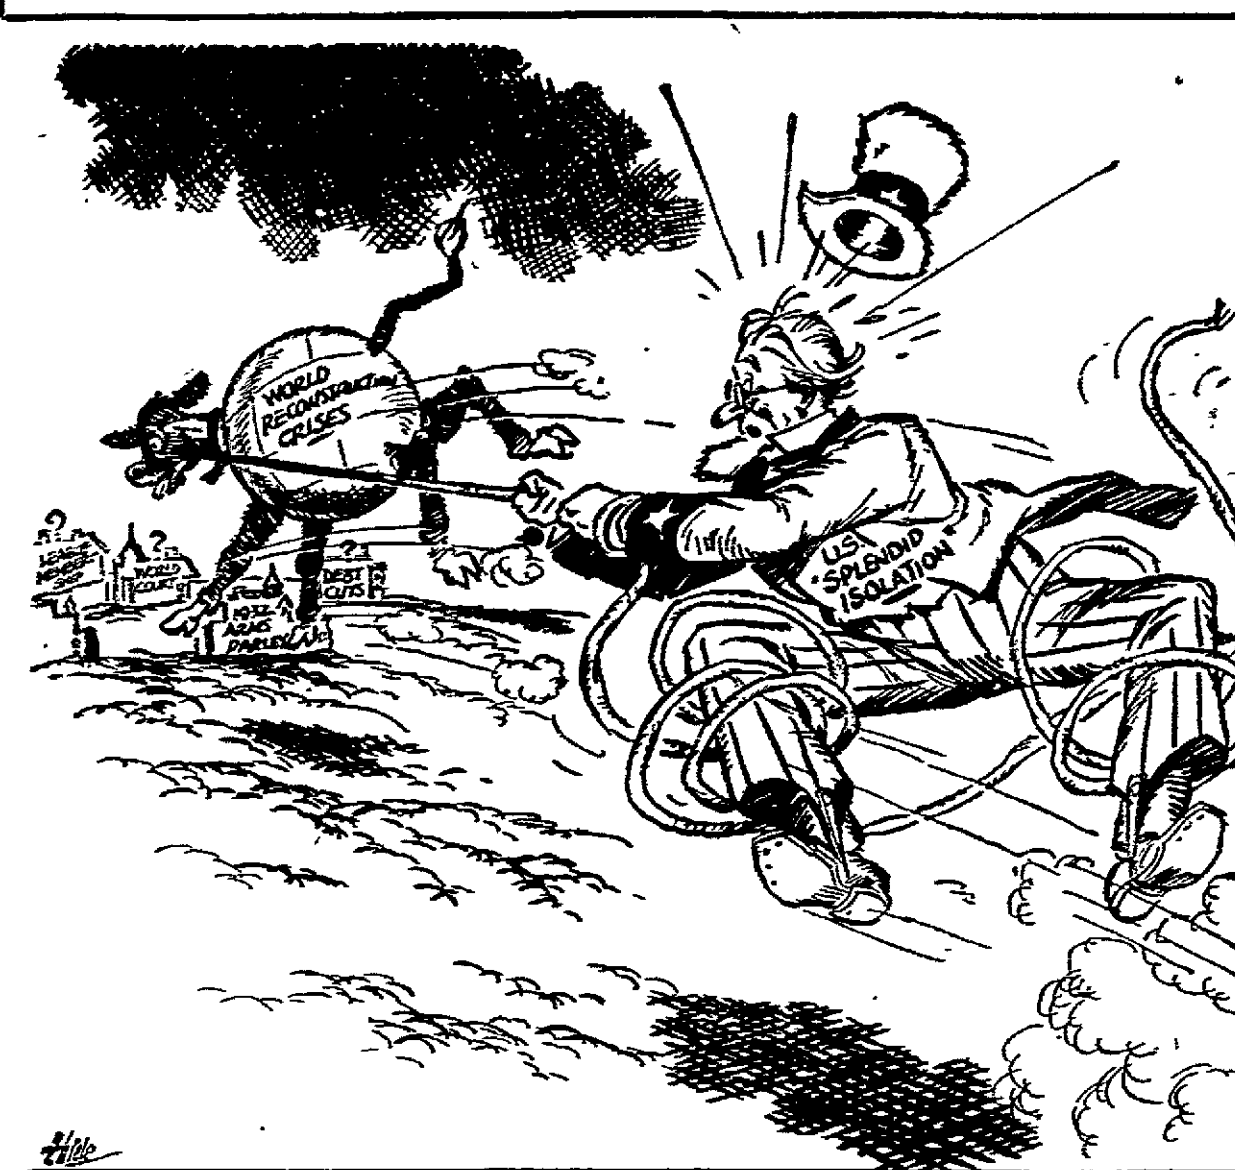

An application for a marriage license was made that morning to the county clerk by Frank C. Kirk, Appleton, and Anna Schyda, Menasha. Miss Margarette Harriman who had been attending the university of California during the preceding year was expected to return to her home in Appleton the following Saturday.

Jack Vincent left the previous Wednesday for Chicago where he was to be secretary for the Community Service school.

Miss Alvina Ahl was taking a few weeks' vacation from her duties at the Appleton Public Library.

Miss Muriel Kelley was to leave the following Saturday for Escanaba, Mich., to visit with friends for about 10 days.

Personal Health Talks

REPORTING PROGRESS IN THE CONDUCTOR'S CLOSED CAR NEURITIS

Well, well, we live and learn. Possibly our Nebraska reader will recall that I had a touch of neuritis in my arm last fall. It came on while I was driving out where the sun shines and the water bill is a dollar a day and worth it. This brachial neuritis was on the right side—of course it would be in my case. According to the French authorities it should be on the left side, that being the side on which the draft comes in the open window strikes the driver. I alluded to this discrepancy here, and several readers hastened to inform me that French cars usually have right hand drive, which I doubt, so far as modern cars are concerned, but in any case, what difference would that make in my neuritis?

Through the winter, in spite of the sun and the loveliness of it all or them all, I grumped around about that right shoulder. For a time I even carried the arm in a sling for greater comfort. Then for another time I worked up an obsession of cervical rib, and whenever the thing felt mean I would decide to have an X-ray negative made to see if we could find evidence of a cervical rib in my neck. Then on days when the girl friend was content with left-armed loving I didn't want to mess around with X-rays or doctors or anything.

By spring the right shoulder was beginning to feel fairly comfortable except when I made any fancy move with it, such as greeting the girl friend with both arms at once. Then we hit the trail back to God's house—for God is good and never denies even the most forsaken of his creatures—and met an old man in Texas. He drove some danged little nuisance, but he wanted all the road and part of the gutter on our side, and we declined to let him have the gutter too, so we came on the rest of the way by rail, and now I had a real game shoulder, this time the left, which was slightly fractured. From now on I just forget that lame right shoulder, or to state it accurately, it never gave me another twinge.

The doctor made X-ray films of both shoulders to compare the injured side with the normal. I was amazed to learn that I had no cervical neuritis, but just a simple chronic subacromial bursitis. If you know what I mean, and if you don't, never mind. The negative of the right shoulder showed a little nodule or concretion in the bursa, the scar or result of the inflammation. I've often remarked here and elsewhere that the doctor who attempts to diagnose or treat his own ailments has a fool for a patient. I know it now.

But I felt that this confession or explanation was due my readers, since I played up my fake "neuritis" and challenged anybody to explain how the draft from the open window struck my right shoulder and neck instead of the left side next the window.

Of course the diagnosis of bursitis quite excludes any thought of draft or cold as a factor.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This is My Alibi

You recently stated that a person can't make up for lost sleep. That seems a paradox. How do we get back the energy then? (M. E. C.)

Answer.—We do not get back the energy if we lose any of the ESSENTIAL hours of sleep. Most persons sleep longer hours than are essential, and the loss of a few hours' sleep robs and then for such persons is insignificant—provided they don't get all hot and bothered about their "insomnia."

Monkeying With the Buzz Saw
A laboratory test shows my blood has 42 per cent lymphocytes, 50 per cent mononuclears, 3 per cent mononuclears, white count 15,000. What per cent must I have before it will prove fatal? (E. P.)

Answer.—Yes, by all means. My advice is that you leave the consideration of laboratory reports entirely to your doctor.

Needs a Vest and a Pair of Pants
The writer has had good health for 29 years. Now for the first time in my life I have a problem which causes me worry and nervous trouble.

I am now annoyed with a coated tongue for some five months. Do you think it is from the stomach caused by worry? Please suggest a cure. (E. R.)

Answer.—If you were my patient and claimed or acknowledged no other symptoms than the coat on the tongue, I'd see that you were fitted out with a suitable assortment before you go out of my office. Just on the off chance, and not that I care whether you put on a fire sale or not, something seems to tell me you've been sitting around a defective gas heater or maybe using a heater with leaky pipe—enough to get a touch of carbon monoxide poisoning. Don't let this worry you, for that would only give your tongue a heavier coat, and that in turn would make you worry and there is no telling what the outcome of such a vicious cycle would be. Just see to it that the gas fixtures are O. K., and take from 10 to 20 grains of sodium hypophosphite (photographer's fixing hypo) two or three times a day, in water or with a little syrup, for three weeks.

Poisonous Hair Dye
French woman gave the recipe to restore natural color to gray hair: Flumini acetate, lac sulphur, each one ounce, camellia oil 2 ounces. Beat run and alcohol, each one pint. (W. E. M.)

Answer.—Old stuff—sugar of lead and sulphur. It doesn't "restore" color, but dyes the hair black. Lead is not safe for use as hair dye. (Copyright John F. Dille Co.)

The Tinymites

By Hal Cochran

THE big pineapple sure looked great and Scoury said, "Gee, I can't wait until we cut it into slices. Then we'll have a treat." The Jap just smiled and said, "Well, son, you soon shall have a bit of fun. I'll cut this fine pineapple up for all of you to eat."

He cut the outside off real quick. Said Cappy, "With a knife you're slick." And then they watched him slice it thin. 'Twas juicy as could be. "Let's eat," exclaimed the Travel Man. "And everyone eat all he can. I only want a little. Pick a real small slice for me."

What fun they had for quite a while. Said Cappy broke out in a smile. Said he, "Well, I have had my share. I can't eat any more. I've stuffed and stuffed and while 'twas good, I've eaten much more than I should. I only hope that I don't have a tummyache in store."

The Jap then said, "Well, like as not, some exercise will help a lot. A big fern forest is nearby. Why don't you look it over? If you are lucky, you will find a real old man who's very kind. He carries bowls of calash. He'll tell you what they're for."

The Tinymites took this kind advice, and shortly found 'twas cool and nice within the big fern forest. Then they met the queer old man. Upon his shoulder hung a stick and hanging to it, very thick, were two big bowls of calabash. Up to him Cappy ran.

"What are the big bowls for?" said he. The man just smiled and said, "You see the place where drinking water flows is far, far from my home. These bowls will carry water fine, so that's the way that I get mine. I always take them with me, every time I chance to roam."

A Bystander In Washington

BY HERBERT PLUMMER
Washington—Random notes in a Washington Day Book:

"Somewhere in Virginia there's a lad doubtless boasting that he has been consulted about fishing by no less a personage than the President of the United States."

It was while Mr. Hoover was en route to Washington on his swing around the circle in the midwest. The Presidential special stopped for a few minutes in a Virginia town and Mr. Hoover stepped out on the station platform.

After receiving greetings from the townspeople, the President turned to a small boy standing nearby and inquired as to fishing in those parts. "Fishing's fine, Mr. President," the lad answered, and told Mr. Hoover he had succeeded in landing some nice ones. The President showed interest immediately.

"We'd like to have you come down some time, Mr. President," said the boy.

Mr. Hoover thanked him for the invitation, expressed his desire to do so, then boarded the train.

From Juleps to Volstead

Washington's last famous old bar—the Raleigh—across the street from the post office department and one block from the bureau of internal revenue—is to be converted into a soda fountain.

There was a time when the Raleigh was a nationwide reputation. Its fin rickies and mint juleps in the days before prohibition attracted some of the most famous men of the country.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon frequented the Raleigh. John Sharp Williams, former senator from Mississippi, was a patron, as was Mark Hanna. Then Champ Clark, speaker of the house during the Wilson administration, and Boies Penrose of Pennsylvania, were fond of visiting the Raleigh.

Since the Sheppard law dried up the capital in 1917, three years before prohibition, the old bar has served as a light lunch stand. The veteran bartenders have remained to be sacrificed. The long mahogany counter, brass rail, and the huge oil painting on the wall painted by Chelmonski will remain.

Today's Anniversary

LANSING'S SPEECH

On July 29, 1917, Robert Lansing, secretary of state, gave an important address on America's war aims at the officers' training camp at Sacket Harbor, N. Y.

Let us understand once for all, Secretary Lansing said, "that this is no war to establish an abstract principle of right. It is a war in which the future of the United States is at stake. If any one among you has the idea that we are fighting each others' battles and not our own, the sooner he gets away from that idea the better it will be for him, the better it will be for all of us. 'The American nation arrayed itself with the other great democracies of the earth against the forces of evil which broods over the destinies of central Europe. No thought of material gain and no thought of material loss impelled this action. 'If enthusiasm and ardor can make success sure, then we Americans, have no cause for anxiety, no reason to doubt the outcome of the conflict. But enthusiasm and ardor are not all; they must be founded on a profound conviction of the righteousness of our cause and on an unshakable faith that the God of Battles will strengthen the arm of him who fights for the right.'"

Seen And Heard In New York

BY WILLIAM GAINES

New York. What Atlantic City abandoned its bathing girl revue after 1927, Galveston's annual international beauty pageant was left without a rival in this field of civic enterprise.

But now, according to Martin Starr, managing director of the recent event in Galveston, an Atlantic City faction, denouncing the loss of such nation-wide publicity, seriously is considering a revival of the pulchritude parade on the boardwalk.

In at least two other cities, he says, there is a movement to attempt an annual girl exposition of such proportions as to eclipse Galveston's.

Houston, which dug a ship channel from the Gulf of Mexico, now wants to take away the gulf city's beauties to ornament the channel.

The other is an inland city which hasn't even a canal, and where a bathing beauty contest probably would seem as out of place as a rodeo in an auditorium.

Galveston civic leaders backing the pageant have no intention of giving up their laurels without a tug of war.

Promoting Pulchritude
Starr, a Columbia university man, ascended from an obscure corner of a tabloid editorial room to the ranks of pulchritude promoters.

He is back in town looking after the interests of the three beauties rated highest in the 1931 Galveston spectacle, now in a glittering Broadway show.

The appearance of the girls in Earl Carroll's "Vanities" first was promised verbally. But Starr says when he learned the "Vanities" would not open before August, he refused to sign a written contract with Carroll and the girls were delivered to his rival.

One reason was because Netta Deuschateau of Belgium, "Miss Universe," was ordered by immigration authorities to go home temporarily by July 18. Starr wanted Broadway to see her before her departure.

Carroll, who formerly gave such prize beauties a big splurge, was huffed over this deprivation and to quote Starr, "Carroll told me I was out of his life forever."

Does Und Dots
Word reaches here that a heavily endowed periodical, intended for national circulation, may be published in Reno. It would seek to counteract some of the unfavorable comment in certain quarters regarding Nevada's liberal laws. . . . It has been considered smart this summer to employ the gangster-racketeer motif for parties. Nice hosts recently mailed out invitations scrawled in pencil on rough paper, warning the recipient of being "taken for a ride" or "put on the spot" for failure to attend.

USE AIRPLANES IN HOPPER WAR ON IOWA FARMS

Poison Mash Chief Weapon Against Pest—Move to Stop Future Plague

Des Moines, Ia.—(AP)—Aerial warfare, with airplanes spreading poison mash over cornfields threatened by an army of grasshoppers, was in prospect for western Iowa farmers today.

The horde which levelled fields in Nebraska and South Dakota has also done great damage to western Iowa crops and constitutes a growing menace to the entire state, entomologists asserted here.

State officials have adopted a tentative plan for combating the plague, but agricultural experts will work out details. The state will furnish poison bran to be spread on waste lands and highways, and the poison will be sold at wholesale prices to farmers in the infected areas.

State expenses in the fight will be paid from the $50,000 corn borer fund. Attorney General John Fletcher and Budget Director Oscar Anderson have approved the expenditure.

Arrangements were being made today to secure bids for use of airplanes to "dust" fields with the poison mash. County agents and specialists from Iowa State college at Ames announced that a meeting will be held Thursday at Missouri Valley or Mondamin and that similar conferences will follow at other points in the hopper area.

Dr. C. J. Drake, state entomologist, at a meeting here yesterday with agriculturists and state officials urged immediate action to "check the outbreak while it can be done at a nominal cost."

He said that immediate action was necessary as the hoppers this week began depositing eggs in the soil. Unless the pest is controlled now, he said, the situation will be even more critical next spring.

ACT TO END PLAGUE

St. Paul, Minn.—(AP)—State and county officials, now fighting to check an invasion of northwestern Minnesota by grasshoppers, today started plans to prevent, if possible, any future plagues.

R. A. Trovostsen, state commissioner of agriculture, is in the insect-infested section of the state, meeting with county agricultural agents where plans are being made to make a scientific research to determine possible steps to prevent a return of the grasshoppers next year.

Crops have been destroyed by the pests which swept into the state several weeks ago. Examination is going on under direction of A. G. Ruggles, state entomologist, backed by state appropriation of $10,000 through poisoned bran.

HARRISON ASKED TO AIR TARIFF STAND

Iowan Would Know Just What Changes Are Advocated by Mississippi

Washington, D.C.—(AP)—In an open letter through the Republican National committee Senator Dickinson of Iowa, today asked Senator Harrison of Mississippi to specify what changes he would make in event the Smoot-Hawley Tariff act should come up for revision.

"Since you have ever stood in the fore ranks of those Democratic senators who have denounced the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill as the sum of all iniquities," the Iowa Republican wrote, "I think you should make clear to the country just what changes in the existing law you would make should there be an opportunity for the revision which you have so persistently urged."

Dickinson asked the Mississippi whether he would reduce the duty on several southern products. He said the time had passed for dealing in generalities in the discussion of the tariff and requested Harrison to answer categorically a number of questions including:

"Is it not a fact that you approved all of the industrial rates which

er, however, in that it leaves such a broad field for personal equation. The principle of successful bidding is to tell your partner only enough to encourage him to keep the bidding alive; to conceal, as much as may be, your strength and weakness from the enemy.

Many bridge players fall at this point. They woefully follow excellent general principles and open a legible bidding book to an alert opponent; to the partner book may be Sanskrit. Even though partner understands everything that is said, there are players who persist in revealing in the bidding every weak spot in their armor; every place along the frontier unprotected by an impenetrable fortress. Such tactics facilitate successful attack by an alert and relentless enemy.

Sound strategy requires the element of surprise. For this reason, in preparing the Culbertson Standard System of bidding, I purposely left so much room for the free play of personality behind the cards. In other words, I gave to the player opportunity to conceive and develop major strategy. I had the pleasure recently of seeing an extremely accurate application of the principles of shrewd strategy and the use of sound psychology at the Contract table.

1—North, vulnerable, passed West's Opening club bid hoping, as was justified by the results, to make a surprise bid later. There was in his course the risk of loss but it was counterbalanced by the opportunity of even greater gain in case his strategy succeeded. The success of the strategy was, of course, predicated upon a Takeout by East or an Overcall by South.

2—For a moment North must have despaired. East had passed and all North's hopes were now pinned to the slender possibility that South, vulnerable, might be strong enough to make an Overcall of an uncontracted one-bid. However, major strategy involves the taking of risks. South's bid of one heart must have been sweet music in North's ears.

3—The moment for concealment having passed, North boldly bid for game. His hand contains 9 sure tricks. His partner's hand, if it at all justified an Overcall, must produce one or more.

4—West fears that through some freak of the gods of distribution a bid of four spades may be made. While he cannot hope to make five clubs, he overbids, his loss should not be heavy.

5—North is unwillingly forced to bid five spades. The success of this bid is uncertain and depends possibly on whether South's tricks are first or second round tricks. However, the loss cannot be great and North's hand is virtually trickless in defense.

6—Having cleverly concealed the make-up of his hand, North redoubles, confident there is a good chance of making the contract and that in no case can it be defeated more than 1 trick. The Redouble, if made, nets North 400 additional points. If it goes down 1 trick, it can cost only 200 points. The odds justify the Redouble.

In the play East opened the diamond Queen, which was covered by South's King in order to force the lead into the West hand and West's return of the diamond was ruffed. Now the trumps were led, a club established to discard the losing heart and the contract of 5 redoubled made. By a combination of deep psychology, master strategy and excellent play, North had trapped his opponents.

you so viciously condemn (in generalities) when you voted against a proposal to eliminate from the tariff bill all increases in duties except those on agricultural products?

"Is it not a fact that you were perfectly willing that all of the industrial rates against which you now raise your voice for political purposes should be embodied in the bill provided you were able to retain in the measure the 6 cents a pound duty on long staple cotton?"

PRAY FOR RAIN TO SETTLE HEAVY DUST

Ordinarily rain during a paving job is a bitter pill for the contractor but for once in his life E. H. Bass, superintendent of the Caughlin Construction company, is begging for rain. River-dr., where a concrete base is being laid, is so dry that the dropping of the concrete on the clay base spreads such heavy clouds of dust that houses along the street are simply swamped with dirt. It has been necessary to artificially sprinkle the street before each section of concrete is poured.

SAVINGS BANKS CREATED FOR MAN OF SMALL MEANS

Serve Only as Secondly Mediums for Investors, Speculators

BY GEORGE T. HUGHES
(Copyright, 1931, by Cons. Press)

New York.—Two points about savings banks must be made plain if we are to understand the part these institutions play in the investment world. The first is that savings banks are intended to serve the needs of the man of small resources. They are not for large capitalists.

It sometimes happens, particularly under conditions such as now prevailing, namely business depression and low interest rates, that larger sums representing temporary idle funds are deposited in the savings banks because of the relatively high rate of return obtainable thereon. Such funds are likely to be withdrawn on short notice and although the banks take them up to certain prescribed limits it is not business which they seek nor is it a service they are designed to give.

The second point is that savings banks are for savings first of all and only secondly mediums for investment. By that is meant that it is the accumulation of money and not the amount earned on the money in the way of interest or dividends which is the proper objective of the depositor in the savings bank. These banks furnish a place where the wage earner or the small salaried man can set aside his surplus

Former Assistant Movie Director Turns Chauffeur

BY JESSIE HENDERSON
Hollywood, Cal.—(CPA)—You've heard of Marlene Dietrich, but look at her chauffeur. In the first place, he's the only chauffeur who took his job because he was tired of being an assistant director. They sent him out one morning to round up 30 black cats for a comedy gag when I was assistant-directing for Jack White," he explained today. "I hunted 12 hours for those cats and when I returned, the story had been changed so that only two were necessary. I quit. At the wheel of a car you know what to expect."

earnings, no matter how small, with the greatest assurance of security.

Whether the bank pays 4 1/2 per cent on these deposits, 4 per cent, or 3 per cent, or any other sum is a matter of minor importance. It is true that the interest rate is an incentive to saving but the bank operates first of all to insure the safe keeping of the funds entrusted to it.

The law recognizes this fact in the stringent supervision it exercises over savings bank investment. While the various states have differed standards governing savings bank investments, they all insist, and properly, on extreme conservatism. Savings banks are not supposed to buy bonds with the idea of making a capital profit but only after analysis shows that there is every reasonable prospect of continued payment of interest on the coupon date and the return of the principal at maturity.

HUDSON

with SELECTIVE FREE WHEELING
Runs Like a Top!

With Selective Free Wheeling you free wheel in all forward speeds. You shift gears silently. You travel through traffic with less need to use the clutch and with less gear shifting. You float over rough crossings. It gives a performance more enjoyable than anything you have ever experienced.

That's how thousands of owners of older Hudsons describe their first ride in the Greater Hudson Eight. They speak of this Hudson as the smoothest thing on wheels. They like the way its powerful motor causes hills to vanish and the way it purrs along so swiftly, so sweetly. Its nimble getaway, its silence and the way it floats over rough crossings is so luxuriously different that all praise it.

Because they know what Hudson can do, they recognize its impressive value. They compare its size and looks, comfort and performance, cost and economy with previous Hudsons and with other cars they know. It is to their advantage to make such contrasts. It is to the Greater Hudson Eight's advantage, too.

Won't you try the Greater Hudson Eight with Selective Free Wheeling? Hudson gives you all anyone could want in motor car luxury—and at a great saving in price.

Stage Star "Explains" Her "Worst Performance"

Denver—(AP)—A murmur of surprise and conjecture which followed the opening performance of Ethel Barrymore in "The School for Scandal" here Monday had led today to publication of a front-page article signed by the famous actress in which she "explained" what critics called the "worst performance of her career."

Under the headline "Ethel Barrymore Tells Own Tale of 'Worst Performance,'" the star related that a curtain of darkness seemed to hover over her throughout the play and that her feeble attempt at an old-fashioned curtsy was caused by a strained legiment in her left leg.

In another story Kaspar Monahan, dramatic critic for the Rocky Mountain News, whose review was the most charitable of those published here, quoted prominent Denver first-nighters on their reaction to the performance, in which Miss Barrymore frequently forgot or mumbled her lines.

Admiration for the actress for carrying on under obvious difficulty

The hearing, before R. C. McInturn Chicago, head of the prohibition department's permit division legal staff, is on an order to the company to show cause why its permit to make near beer should not be revoked.

Decision on this case and on a similar one against the Val Blatz Brewing company, is pending.

FUNERAL DIRECTORS HIT ALLEGED RACKET

Milwaukee—(AP)—The Wisconsin Funeral Directors and Embalmers association proposes to fight what it calls "burial insurance rackets."

During the association's convention yesterday, it was decided to seek a legislative enactment requiring all persons engaged in the burial insurance business to comply with laws governing legal reserve life insurance companies.

James A. Crossin, Kenosha, calling the new business a "racket," said the firms issuing such insurance pay the benefits in merchandise or services instead of cash.

ASK MORATORIUM ON FEDERAL FARM LOANS

Glenwood City, Wis.—(AP)—A petition was being prepared here today to be sent to President Hoover and congress asking a three-year moratorium on federal farm loans.

At an adjourned meeting of the National Farm Loan association, a resolution favoring the petition was unanimously adopted. The meeting was held Monday night after a previous one had been adjourned pending information on the sentiment of members of the association in the surrounding territory.

The sentiment of the meeting was that all loans against distressed and worthy farmers actually working the land for more than a year past should be included in such a moratorium.

Variety Of Jobs Leads To Success

BY ANGELO PATRI

"Times are changed. There used to be room at the top for the man who worked his way but that day has gone by. Now you have to have pull and lots of it to get anywhere." Maybe so, but I doubt it. The world goes on after a generation has passed. Life is tremendously interesting today. There are countless things to be done. There are great schemes afoot. This incoming generation has inherited no empty chest but a full treasure trove.

"And what has all that got to do with a fellow's finding a job after graduation? Tell me that."

Plenty. Before you can find a job there has to be something to do and I'm pointing out that there is plenty to be done, and plenty more to come. Jobs do not usually plump into one's lap as he sits at the feet of fortune. One goes out to look for them. And they are not born full fledged. These jobs they grow. A fellow, or a girl, creates them. Out of himself, of course. That self that he was creating in these years of training and education.

A Self is a curious phenomena. A mystery. You have it but you don't know much about it. You think you do and you make all sorts of queer mistakes in trying to follow your own idea of yourself. That is all in the lifetime's work, and in the way of creating your job.

Well, about finding the job. Those young people who have not a place waiting for them after graduation must go to the field in which they believe themselves interested and try themselves out in it. They may be right. They may be wrong. They must take the job as it comes. It may be worlds removed from their idea but they must begin.

A beginning is a great part of the undertaking done. It goes well into the middle of things. If a young man or woman takes hold of a job and wrings the last drop of juice out of it he gains force and power. The job may not be to his liking, but it is valuable because it is a phrase of life and life is the young person's job. The last niche will appear in time. The successive steps toward it are important because they offer opportunities for knowledge and power and growth. They should be taken in good spirit. I know that the young lawyer may have to take a job as a clerk. That the young teacher or chemist may have to begin as a maid or a nurse.

DEBATE VALUE OF GOLD REGION IN MONTANA

Milwaukee—(AP)—A hearing into the value of Montana lands owned by the Gold Creek Mining company, will be continued here next Monday by the State Public Service commission, securities division.

At the opening hearing yesterday, E. J. Harvey, Racine, president of the company, declared from his knowledge as a practical engineer that the Gold Creek lands are very valuable. He said he had made no effort to sell stock in his company in Wisconsin. The securities division is investigating the propriety of such sales.

A prospector and a consulting engineer said yields of between 35 and 70 cents of gold per cubic yard of dirt were possible from the land.

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE
© 1931 by NEA Service, Inc.

THE man who stood in the doorway was the man who lived in the room across from Sue. She remembered now that she had never known his name or his profession. But she had never dreamed that the god of luck held a freakish trick that would bring her to his office, looking for a job.

Words of the man came drifting back to Sue. He had asked her once if she had lost her job. Seemed to be laughing at her at the time. He had been so cock sure of himself. And he had seen her embarrassment the night that she had thought she didn't have enough money to pay for her dinner. She certainly was not going to ask him for employment.

But if she didn't she would have to pretend that she had a reason for coming. That she had a cold and needed pills. A tooth that ached. Her mind floundered helplessly.

"Good morning," Dr. Barnes said then. "Did you want to see me? You seem agitated."

"I didn't just come to make a morning visit. I have a voice saying 'I came as a patient.'"

"What seems to be the matter?"

"I don't know. I've got some pains and they are the sort of thing you are supposed to know how to correct."

If she could just get him to open the door so she could see into his office to know if he had a dental chair, on which she would profit by the help, she knew. But he had closed the door and was leaning against it, nonchalantly, unruffled.

"It was mighty nice of you to look me up. Patients haven't been any too plentiful," he answered, and this time there was something nice about his voice, something likeable in his smile. "Want to come in?" He opened the door and stepped aside for her to enter. Sue noticed that there was a chair such as dentists use, and an electric drill.

She sat down in the chair and opened her mouth.

The dentist turned the light so it shone into her mouth. He tapped this tooth and that one, examined them all with his little mirror. Then he shook his head.

"It must be just a cold you've caught. There isn't a thing the matter with any of them."

Sue realized, suddenly, that he had guessed why she had come. He was playing up to her much more chivalrously this time. Moved by an impulse that she didn't try to confine, she swung around in the chair.

"I really saw your advertisement in the paper and came to get a job. But you don't need to worry about having to hire me. I wouldn't have come if I had known it was your ad, for you get enough of me just living in the same house. And thanks for the examination."

In the outer office she could hear voices. Evidently some other girls had arrived.

"I'll be going."

"We open up at nine in the morning but I generally be here along about 8:30. The salary isn't so much —" He named a sum. "But if you want to help cure toothaches the job's yours."

Sue drew a deep breath. "And to think I ever would have thought making plates and bridges was a godsend. If you don't mind, I'm going to accept."

Next: Sue sees Jean.

WE WOMEN

By Virginia Vane

LONELY BOY MAGNIFIES IMAGINED SLIGHTS DEEDS NOT WORDS IN FRIENDSHIP.

SETH.

C. A.: Why this stern disapproval of dancing, and the lighter sort of amusements, usually enjoyed by young people. You're shutting yourself away from the environment which would bring you friendships on the one hand, and wondering why you're not a social success on the other.

Perhaps there is something a little too self-righteous in your attitude even though you don't imagine for a moment that it shows. It probably does, and consequently such young people as you know find you unresponsive and a bit on the dull side. Also your long isolation has made you over-sensitive. You're prepared to believe that nobody is going to like you, and the logical consequence of such a deep-rooted belief is failure in what you're seeking.

The girl who overlooked your tentative invitation is probably used to dates. She didn't realize that you were taking a tremendous step when you suggested some sort of evening's amusement. So she told you in the off-hand, carefree manner of our modern maidens that she'd let you know. Well, she forgot about it. But that doesn't mean that you're doomed to loneliness the rest of your life. You needn't feel your humbling your pride in mentioning the matter to her again. Because you're not used to the pleasant informal give-and-take of the crowd, you're magnifying details, and making yourself thoroughly miserable.

There are other lonely boys like you in the world who are exaggerating trifles and increasing their own inferiority complex by the minute and to them, as well as to you, I say: Stop making yourself the eternal outsider. Don't build great barriers of pride and prejudice between you and the other young people. No one really means to hurt your feelings. No one is bent on keeping you from the friendships you want so badly. You yourself and your over-sensitive nature and your slight feeling of superiority in certain matters, are wholly to blame for your position.

Perhaps this will help you to stop feeling sorry for yourself and give you the courage to make friends when you find them, without fearing to appear too eager or too daring.

The best rules, but still I believe there's an unwritten law to the effect that a girl may, in maidenly manner, inveigle a friend into performing this solemn ceremony. So why not break a little ice by asking some mutual friend to overcome this terrible obstacle to your happiness? After that, the best conventions will have been observed and friendship can be pursued vigorously.

Different Types

E. G.: No reason to think that you haven't made a friend of the new girl because her manner of showing friendship is different from yours. After all we're all made differently which is a very good thing. And we don't all express our feelings in quite the same way.

You happen to be an affectionate and demonstrative and full of compliments. Also you like to assure your new friend from time to time

DEODORANT IS NECESSARY FOR INDOOR WORKER

BY ALICIA HART

The indoor summer worker does not exist who doesn't need some kind of a deodorant to tide over hot days freshly.

You may be one of those meticulously groomed woman who do not perspire freely and who stay fresh as a daisy. For you, the kind of bath powder that has deodorant qualities may be sufficient. Dusting over with it after the morning shower may be all you need.

For the majority, however, more precaution should be taken. Since it is under the arms that most women have trouble, be sure to shave your arms pits or use depilatory immediately. Never use a deodorant immediately after riding the arm pit of its fume. Wait at least 24 hours, for the flesh is tender after this treatment and irritation in hot water is apt to cause a rash that is unpleasant.

There are various kinds of deodorants, and your use of them should depend on the type of summer person you are. If you perspire freely, there are preparations that conquer all bodily odors and also keep the skin free from perspiration at the same time. You may use these twice a week or every other day, depending on directions of the brand you buy.

If you do not perspire, select a deodorant that is prepared for neutralizing body odors, with no relation to checking perspiration.

Hands that perspire freely may be treated to a deodorant advantageously. And you might keep some deodorant bath powder in your desk and dust your hands over with it when you wash them.

Most of these deodorants should be applied at night, after your tub bath. Many of them give specified directions that no soap should be used immediately before their application. Always follow such directions because they are necessary if you would get the proper results. Also never apply any deodorant if you have any eruptions or rash. Wait until your skin is in good condition.

Deodorants cost comparatively little money but they are a first aid to one who would be dainty.

The new republic of Spain will cut that country's army to 235,290 men in half in order to save $20,000,000 a year to taxpayers.

Perhaps with all your enthusiasm and continued assurance of devotion you will find yourself not quite as good a friend as she is capable of being, when put to the test. Wait and see.

Mothers of growing children, in preparing their foods, should consider well the properties foods contain. Lime for bone making is obtained from milk and carrots, iron from blood from spinach, egg yolk and liver and lean meat, cabbage, raisins and tomatoes; the phosphorus from fish, beans, peas and whole grains.

Neenah—An appraisal of the present courthouse, county jail and of equipment and contents was ordered Monday by the supervisors, who acted favorably upon the recommendations submitted by the committee on buildings.

According to statements made before the board, this county has no inventory on record to show the value of buildings and contents.

During the session the dance hall license of Alex Dombrowski Menasha, which was taken away at last meeting of the board, was restored. It was reported Dombrowski had asked for another chance, and has agreed to run his place in accordance with county regulations. It was claimed that Dombrowski has rearranged the interior of his premises, putting in new doors, so that there is no longer a direct connection between the barroom and the dancehall.

Those who favored restoring the license said the hall owner has been punished enough for his offense and pointed out that if violations again are reported the county board can immediately revoke the license again. Others claimed there has been no formal assurance that the place would be run according to county regulations, and that the owner should not be "babied" by having his license restored. There were 33 votes for restoring the license and 11 against.

BRITISH RESENT ATTACK ON CREDIT

Reports from Paris Regarded as Assault on Financial Stability

London—(AP)—Considerable amusement and some annoyance was expressed in responsible financial circles today at the nature of some reports from Paris regarding negotiations under way there between representatives of the Bank of England and the Bank of France.

These reports, which represented the Bank of England as seeking a $100,000,000 loan from the Bank of France to meet an emergency occasioned by gold withdrawals, were described as an unjustified attack on British credit and financial stability.

The negotiations at Paris were not explained in detail, but it was disclosed there had been certain French advances to reinvest in short term credits in England about $100,000,000 of the gold proposals last week, but that the proposals had met with considerable opposition in some circles here, where French money with a string tied to it is not wanted particularly at present.

Any needs which the Bank of England may feel, it was explained, arise from the fact that its wheat bills and other payments, principally to the United States and Argentina, fall due early in the fall.

Some of the short term credits now in Germany which have been withdrawn to meet these obligations cannot be touched now under the terms of the seven power conference agreement.

Further gold exports from England may be checked by still another increase in the bank rate, possibly tomorrow.

The negotiations at Paris do not strike a snag it is possible that some of the funds which may be needed will be supplied by the French banking syndicate which is now offering money.

In any case, it is emphasized here, the transaction is an ordinary banking deal with several precedents in British and French financial history, and nothing has happened to discredit the old maxim, "safe as the Bank of England."

BADGER BRIEFS

Balsam Lake—(AP)—Mrs. Henry Larson, 33, who last Friday used a revolver to stand off volunteer firemen while her home burned, was held in the county jail today on charge of carrying concealed weapons while District Attorney James McGinnis continued an investigation. Sheriff James Olson said the woman fired several shots at her husband and others who attempted to put out the flames. The women denied she started the fire.

Wausau—(AP)—Adolph Neumann, 19, son of a town of Halsey farmer, died at the office of a physician in Athens yesterday shortly after he was struck by an automobile driven by Edward Huges, a farmer. An inquest has been ordered next week.

Beloit—(AP)—Apparently an amnesia victim, James Blacha, 54, who disappeared from his home here Saturday, was found in Janesville yesterday by deputy sheriffs. Blacha told the officers he feared someone was chasing him.

Elsworth—(AP)—Fire believed started by tramps destroyed a barn on the farm of John Pick, nine miles south of here, yesterday killing 60 head of cattle and causing damage estimated by Pick at $6,000.

Milwaukee—(AP)—Six women and four men arrested in a raid headed by Sheriff Al Benson last night were held for questioning today by the district attorney. The places raided were the Golden Glow, Shady Nook, and a roadhouse on Highway 55, north of Silver Spring road. The sheriff said the raid marked the start of a campaign against roadhouse gambling and women who lure customers into spending more money.

THINKS AIRPLANE MOTOR'S HEAT CAN STOP ICE ON WINGS

Cornell Physicist Even Hopes to Find Way of Warming Propellers

Ithaca, N. Y.—(AP)—Dr. Merit Scott, Cornell physicist, has discovered that enough heat is dissipated by airplane engines to warm the wings and prevent perils of ice formations.

There is even the possibility of heating the propeller, a part up to now lacking in any kind of protection against ice.

"There has been a general opinion," Dr. Scott says, "that the heat dissipated by the aviation engine is insufficient to maintain the necessary exposed surfaces of the airplane at or above the freezing point of water at ice-forming temperatures."

That this opinion is mistaken he found in a year's experiments and calculations in a laboratory at Cornell university department of physics equipped under a grant from the Daniel Guggenheim fund for the promotion of aeronautics.

In a refrigeration wind tunnel he drove glass, sleet and sub-cooled water particles against small model plane wings. In these wings, along the leading edges, were pipes carrying hot air equivalent to the exhaust gases from an aviation engine. The pipes kept the surface of the leading edges above freezing.

The heat generated at these edges, flowed backward over the wing surfaces. It was pressed down there by the rush of the air past the wings. It formed a heat cushion between the wing surface and the freezing water particles.

Method of Discharge Back pressure produced upon the engine by using the exhaust gases in this manner, Dr. Scott says, may be relieved by discharging the gases into the air at a point on the wing where the pressure is below that of the atmosphere.

"The propeller may also be protected from ice formation," he states. "This may be accomplished by conducting the hot gases to the interior of a hollow metal propeller by a sliding valve and allowing them to discharge from exit ports near the propeller tips. Although no practical tests of these methods of preventing ice formation have been made, the practicability and simplicity of these means seem available when occasion necessitates."

Laymen think of air as rushing over a completely bare wing surface. Actually the wing lies in a coat of still air, but it is a microscopically thin coat. The next layer of air outward is in motion and succeeding layers move with increasing velocity. For this reason, Dr. Scott says, if a layer of water on the wing is thin, the air forces tending to blow it off are exceedingly small, even though at an almost infinitesimal distance above there may be a hurricane.

This results in unexpected antics of water drops. On the leading edge, air pressure holds water flat, but as it flows back over the wing, it bunches up into rounded droplets. These rush along with the hopping motion of water poured upon a sizzling hot stove.

ILLINOIS POLITICS SWING INTO ACTION AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

Senator James H. Lewis Democratic Favorite for Presidential Ticket

BY OWEN L. SCOTT Copyright, 1931, By Conn. Press Chicago—(CPA)—Hot weather and hard times have ripened a crop of political developments far ahead of schedule in Illinois, where the candidate harvest is in swing nine months ahead of the next primary.

There already is the prospect of a bumper yield of Republican seekers for the gubernatorial nomination, while candidates for Congressional nominations spring up almost overnight.

Much interest locally is shown in the effort of Mayor Anton J. Cermak to nurture the national ambitions of Senator James Hamilton Lewis, who is believed to have a real interest in the prospect of taking second place on the next Democratic presidential ticket. Senator Lewis who won his election by a majority of 50,000 over Ruth Hannan McCormick, the Republican nominee, last November is keeping sharply in the limelight to stimulate his growth in the national consciousness. He is the favorite son presidential candidate of Illinois Democrats.

James Simpson, Jr., 26-year old son of the chairman of the board of the Marshall Field and Company, is adding spice to the congressional situation by announcing his candidacy for the Republican nomination in the thirteenth Illinois district.

The youthful scion of a rich family, known as a sportsman, prefers politics to merchandising and promises to wage a hard fight against a big list of veterans.

At the same time, from Rockford, come reports that Republicans there are talking of bringing out former Congressman Ruth Hanna McCormick, for the race in the new fourteenth Illinois district. Mrs. McCormick has kept her political organization over the state intact but she has let it be known she is not a candidate for the congressional nomination.

The yield of Republican gubernatorial aspirants is unusually high already, even with the nomination scheduled as far away as next April. "Big Bill" Thompson, Chicago's former mayor, is whipping it up for Len Small, his former crony in the Small, Thompson, Lorimer, Smith combination. Former Governor Small is expected to blossom out officially at the time of the state fair in Kankakee during September.

Oscar Carlstrom, Attorney General at for two terms, is in bloom officially as is William H. Malone, former state tax commissioner. Governor Louis L. Emmerson, either is to run for re-election against this group, or will have a candidate of his own.

In the meantime the Democrats are sitting tight and forestalling as much as possible any prospect of a split within their ranks. They see a chance for carrying all state offices and are keeping their crop of job aspirants well under cover.

Butte des Morts, Oshkosh Golfers Will Clash Here Thursday

INVADERS TO BRING STRONG AGGREGATION

Defeated Appleton Niblick Welders on Sawdust City Course

BUTTE DES MORTS golfers will play host to Oshkosh Country club members in a team match over the local course. The meeting of the two clubs is the second this season, the invaders having copped a match at Oshkosh several weeks ago.

Thursday's program will begin with a luncheon at 12 o'clock club officials said and the first players will start out shortly after 1 o'clock. The Sawdust city club is expected to send about 40 players here, the team to be much stronger than the one that defeated Appleton last month.

Appleton players planning to enter the competition have been asked by club officials to sign up immediately. Members who competed in the meet at Oshkosh will have first choice in Thursday's fracas, it is said. The match is the first big event for Butte des Morts players since the Jamboree which was staged last July 15.

Another competitive event for Butte des Morts golfers will be staged Saturday, Sunday and Monday. It is the qualifying round for the club championship and is expected to attract a large number of players. Three flights will be picked after the qualifiers shoot their 18 holes.

Play for the President's cup is lagging, according to club officials. The qualifying round was played several weeks ago, but only one match has been played in the second round of match play.

STEPHENSON LOST TO CUBS REST OF YEAR

Chicago—(P)—The Cubs probably will have to get along without Elgie Stephenson, veteran outfielder, for the rest of the National league season.

Stephenson was at first thought to have suffered a badly wrenched ankle when he slid into first base Monday. An X-ray examination, however, revealed that a bone in his right ankle had been chipped and the muscle pulled away. Stephenson had been batting around .320.

NORWEGIAN BANTAM MEETS EUGENE HUAT

Montreal, Que.—(P)—Pete Sanstol of Norway, recognized as bantam-weight champion by the Montreal Athletic commission, battles Eugene Huat of France in a "tuff" bout here tonight. The winner will meet Al Brown, Panama Negro, recognized in some states as 118-pound titleholder, here within a month.

Calling the Strikes

New York—(P)—Owners of ball clubs never have had any luck trying to induce their high-priced pitchers to work on a sliding scale. Once there was a pitcher for Brooklyn who ate up a contract calling for a big bonus if he won so many games. There was an added clause in the contract. The pitcher got to it in time. He received the bonus if he won the allotted number of games, and if he didn't he was to be deducted pro rata for every game that he failed to win.

It's a good thing Dazzy Vance hasn't a sliding scale contract with Brooklyn this year. He has won seven games and lost seven, of which three have been dropped to St. Louis. The Giants say they will smash him the next time he pitches against them.

Wolves Howl As Brewers Lose 2 Games To Saints

BY WILLIAM WEEKES
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO—(P)—St. Paul not only is using Milwaukee to boost its lead in the American association but is making it unpleasant for Marry Berghammer, manager of the Brewers.

Milwaukee is a great baseball city, particularly when the team is winning. Great things were expected from the collection of former major league stars and promising youngsters this season, and the wolves began to howl when the Brewers slipped down and almost out of the race. Berghammer, being the manager, has been the target.

The Saints whipped Milwaukee Monday, and yesterday came right back and won a doubleheader, 6 to 1, and 13 to 5, which did nothing to silence the growls of the fans. Russ Van Atta held the Brewers to five hits in winning the opener, and ragged fielding, plus 14 St. Paul hits caused Milwaukee's downfall in the second. Tony Kubek dropped a fly with the bases full in the second inning, and all three runners scored. Alex Metzler helped make Brewer fans forget part of their misery in the second game by hanging out a pair of home runs.

Kerns Down Mud Hens

Louisville held its own in the race by defeating Toledo, 8 to 7, in ten innings. Jose Olivares tripped with Thompson on base to punch over the winning run. The Colonels put up a poor fielding exhibition, making five errors, of which first baseman Dudley Brannan was charged with three. Toledo outbatted the Colonels, 16 to 14, but had twelve men left on bases.

Kansas City rallied for four runs in the eighth inning to defeat Minneapolis, 11 to 8, and square the series at one victory each. Eddie Pick ran out a triple to help the big inning along. The Blue attack produced 18 hits, with Bill Akers getting a double and a brace of singles. Columbus and Indianapolis divided a doubleheader, the Red Birds winning the first game, 6 to 4, and the Indians scoring a 2 to 1 triumph in a pitching battle. The Birds hit safely 14 times in winning the opener, while Walter Miller kept seven hits widely separated in the second to give the Indians the edge. Eckert, his opponent, gave only eight hits.

32 STATE GOLFERS SEEK AMATEUR TITLE

George Johnson, Oconomowoc Youth, Is Medalist With 73 Score

Milwaukee—(P)—An end of the turbulent golf that marked the second day of qualifying rounds yesterday, and an end of the withering weather that was blamed for it was hoped for today as 32 golfers teed off in the championship flight of the state amateur golf tournament.

Whereas George Johnson, Oconomowoc, has taken as few as 73 shots to become medalist Monday, the terrific heat and a wild wind forced qualifiers yesterday well up into the 70s.

When the shooting was over, 38 golfers had 79 or better and 14 of them had exactly that many strokes, necessitating a playoff. Gordon Kummer, Ozaucan, one of the 14, failed to appear for this test and the 13 remaining teed off to fight for the eight remaining places.

Jack Moss, Tripoli, Milwaukee; Gibb Smith, Kenosha; and Lee Stutz, Madison, got four on the first hole and thereby entered the title round. Karl Beck, Blue Mound, Milwaukee; Don McKenna, Madison; Ben Moehle, Tripoli; John Marshall, Madison and Herb Dersahl, Ozaucan, Milwaukee, collected five and qualified.

The high wind and heat had wrecked the hopes of many who had justifiable hopes of getting into the top flight.

P. R. O'Neal and Roger O'Neal of the Beloit Country club turned in a card of 82-4-73 for the low net score in the playoff event. Walter Wellman and son, Bobby, of Blackhawk, Madison, took low gross honors with an 85.

No one in the senior championship yesterday lowered the 82 mark set by Fin Jacobs, Maple Bluff, Madison, on Monday, and he became medalist in that flight.

Scores of three Appleton players which were announced late Tuesday afternoon were August Brandt, withdrew; D. P. Steinberg, Sr., 45-47-92; Arthur Lemke, 47-48-90.

FRANK BAKER SIGNS WITH PACKER ELEVEN

Green Bay—(P)—Frank Baker, all-American end of the Northwestern University Big Ten championship eleven in 1930, yesterday signed a contract to play professional football with the Green Bay Packers. He is the third Wilcox signed by the Bays. Others are Wade Woodworth, guard, and Hank Bruders, fullback and halfback.

New York—(P)—Charlie Retzlaff, Duluth, Minn., knocked out Mateo Osa, Spain (3), Steve Hamas, State College, Pa., stopped Frank Morris, New York (7), Valentine Campolo, Argentina, knocked out Gus Rodenburg, New York (2).

GUARDS OUT-HIT BUT BEAT ATLAS MILL, 8-6

Co. D. softballers celebrated their return to National league activities last night by defeating one of their worst rivals, the Atlas Mill team. The score was 8 and 6, despite the fact the Mill team outbait the Guards by an 8 and 6 count.

The Guardsmen scored two runs in the sixth inning and then clinched the game in the seventh with six runs off two hits. The Mill team also scored two runs in the sixth inning and rallied in the eighth with four runs. The Guards managed to put down the rumpus before the Mill could get close enough to be considered serious. Atlas had numerous men left on bases during the inning primarily because of bad base running.

Move into Tie for Second Place in A. L.; Tuttles Beat Phones

The Woolen Mills-Machine softball team of the American league pounded the Appleton Coated Paper company for an 8 and 6 victory Monday evening and thereby got even for a defeat earlier in the season. The game had all the earmarks of a pitching battle at the start but ended as a fast, interesting battle. The victory permitted the Wooleens to slide into a tie for second honors in the league.

Schwandt and Herb worked for the Wooleens while H. Horn, Egbert and Brockhaus tolled for the Papermen. C. Horn staged some spectacular fielding catches for the winners and Totzke of the Wooleens was the bat star with three hits in three trips.

Schwandt gave 13 hits, one walk and struck out five. Horn of the losers gave 11 hits, one walk, and struck out none in eight innings. Egbert gave one hit and one walk in two frames.

Stoffel of the losers hit the only homer of the game with two on in the eighth.

JIM MULLEN DEPRIVED OF PROMOTERS LICENSE

Chicago—(P)—Jim Mullen, veteran Chicago fight entrepreneur, has been deprived of his promoter's license by the Illinois state athletic commission.

The action followed Mullen's failure to answer a summons to explain why he had not paid Ace Hudkins Nebraska light heavyweight, for his bout with King Levinsky of Chicago, several weeks ago. Clyde Hudkins, manager of Ace, complained that the fighter had failed to receive $15,000, his share of the $20,000 gate, as well as three round trip tickets from Los Angeles to Chicago and return.

"Yes, Those big innings are less conspicuous than they were a year ago. Games have been fought to the last inning against a five-run handicap and have been interesting throughout."

New Ball a Good One

"No doubt you think the changed ball in the National league has had something to do with it?"

"The ball has had its effect. It is a good ball. It has given us good games. I see that the golfers are agitated about the change in the wood of the golf ball. I am only citing that to show that modifications, however slight in a ball, are sure to have effect on any kind of game."

"You know that we do not allow bats to be overbalanced by being loaded. Any kind of hardwood can be used. The dimensions of the bat are stipulated. When the ball with a less heavy cover was in use in 1930 the players began to go to hickory for bats because they thought the resiliency of the wood was superior to that of ash. I am not so sure whether hickory is as popular with the new ball for the bat- ters seem to have changed their style and are trying to become forearm hitters again."

Chaff 'n ChatteR

By Gordon R. McIntyre

AFTER leading the Valley league procession since the start of the season, Appleton tumbled off the top of the heap Sunday when Green Bay whipped the Collegians, 3-1. It was the third straight upset for Smith & Co.

Kaukauna stepped into first place by dipping Shawano in whitewash, 33-0. The Kaws are stepping along pretty lively of late as Marty Lamers has got his hirrells all dream- ing about the 1931 valley loop flag.

Wisconsin Rapids' sluggers were very much in evidence against Kimberly and the Papermakers took it on the chin 14 to 8. The 1930 champs got to Poca for 16 hits. This is something that doesn't often happen.

The Valley league race is the closest in the state. There is only a game and a half difference between the first place Kaukauna nine and the Green Sox in fourth position. Kimberly and Shawano are out of the running.

Eddie Donagan, who ranked as one of the best infielders in State loop while playing with Manitowoc, made his debut with Appleton on Sunday at second base. He is fill- ing in for Sonny Tornow who has an injured knee.

Breezy Brindra, who was a team mate of Donagan's at Manitowoc, pitched for Green Bay and let down his old side kick without a sign of a hit. Donagan warned the air twice and grounded out in his other two times up.

Catcher Red Smith is doing a lot of baseball touring this season. He started off with Kaukauna. Then took a job with Manitowoc only to return to Kaukauna. Last Sunday, Smith did the receiving for the Kimberly club.

Lefty Schneider, the Shawano pitcher, twirled a six hit game against Kaukauna but was bumped off. This southpaw has a nice breaking curve and his fast ball hops plenty. He should win some games for the Indians.

Bremley, ace swatman in the Valley league, added a few points to his batting average over the week- end by getting three out of six against Kimberly. The Rapids' slugger is only a few points shy of the .500 mark.

Gossen turned in a good game at right field for Kimberly Sunday. He came through with a pair of hits out of four times up besides making a bullet peg home to Red Smith which completed a nifty twin kill- ing.

Graber, Wisconsin Rapids left fielder, had a busy day while per- forming against Kimberly. He got on nearly every time up and made four runs sandwiched between his double and single. Graber also star- red in the field.

Johnny Phillips, one of the veter- ans of the Kaukauna club, continu- es to show lots of class around third base. Johnny wasn't doing much hitting at the start of the season but now he is averaging his bling average game.

Tony Hoffman, Shawano out- fielder, had his hitting spree stop- ped by Michaelson of Kaukauna. Hoffman failed to collect for a blow in four times at bat and, as a re- sult his batting average slipped down from the .330 peak.

Dutch Thelin hasn't been hitting up to his average this season but he found himself on Sunday and peeled off three clean blows. Thelin has been batting in hard luck but maybe he has broken the jinx which was trailing him.

Manager Hoffman of Shawano is still making changes in his battle front in hopes of producing a win- ner. The Indians won their first two starts but since then have dropped 12 straight contests in the Valley loop race.

Dame Rumor has it that several of the Valley league youngsters are being given the once over by A. A. scouts. Buddy Reed of Shawano and Shorty Zundmuller of Green Bay are getting a lot of attention, it is understood.

Another grudge game is on tap this Sunday as Kimberly will in- vade Kaukauna. Wisconsin Rapids will make its first appearance of the season at Green Bay while Shawano is slated to tackle the Collegians in Appleton.

ALL STARS, FLUORS CLASH TOMORROW AT AUGUST BRANDT PARK

Tommy Ryan's All Star soft- ball team will tackle the Fluor Brothers construction company team, Oshkosh, at Brandt park Thursday evening. It was an- nounced today. The game will be- gin at 6 o'clock.

"Cunle" Eilers will toss for the Fluors and Frank of the Oshkosh valley league softball team will be held in reserve. Gresenz or Mor- tell will pitch for the All Stars with Tommy Ryan behind the plate. The stars have lost only two games this season winning 17. The defeats were chalked up by Manitowoc and Neenah.

FORMER AMATEUR CHAMPS QUALIFY FOR 1931 TOURNEY

Johnston, Marston, Ouimet and Evans Will Be Among Players

BY HERBERT W. PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOBBY Jones won't be around to defend his title when the 1931 National amateur golf cham- pionship starts at the Beverly Coun- try Club in Chicago, Aug. 31, but five other one-time rulers of the green purrs will be ready to accept re-election.

The amateur's district qualifying rounds throughout the nation yester- day provoked few surprises and gave Harrison R. (Jimmy) Johnston of Philadelphia, Jesse Guilford of Minneapolis, Max R. Marston of Philadelphia, Jesse Guilford and Chick Evans of Boston, and Chick Evans of Chicago a chance to show that they're still around.

Johnston, the title-holder in 1929, led the qualifiers at Minneapolis. Marston, 1923 winner, passed the test at Philadelphia; Guilford, 1921, and Ouimet, 1924, at Boston; and Evans, 1916 and 1920, at Chicago.

And four runners-up for the title also will be among those present at Chicago at least until the second 36- hole qualifying test, Aug. 31 and Sept. 1, cuts the field of 152 to 32 for match play.

Eugene Homans, for match play, was beaten by Jones in the final last year, qualified in the New York district; Dr. Oscar F. Willing of Port- land, Ore., second to Johnston in 1923, at Seattle; Watts Gunn, runner-up to Jones in 1925, at Pitts- burg; and T. Philip Perkins, former British amateur king and loser to Jones in the 1925 finals, at New York.

Favorites generally landed on top, other qualifiers including George Vogt of New York, George Dunlap, Intercollegiate champion, C. Ross Somerville, Canadian star from Lon- don, Ont.; Charley Seaver, Los An- geles youngster, who reached the semi-final round last year; Maurice McCarthy, and Johnny Lehman, who were eliminated in the third round; Johnny Goodman of Omaha, conqueror of Jones in the first round of the 1929 championship; Roland McKenzie, former Walker cup star; William Lawson Little of San Fran- cisco; Chastain Harris, southern amateur champion from Memphis; Dexter Cummings and Ruby Kree- per.

One former champion, Jess Sweet- ser, failed to appear for the New York district qualifying round.

A. L. YOUNGSTERS MAY SET TWO NEW MAJOR LOOP MARKS

Earl Webb After Doubles
Mark, Chapman Base
Stealing Honors

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

A couple rising stars of the American league may or may not surpass the records they seem to be aiming at, but while Earl Webb of the Boston Red Sox and Ben Chapman of the New York Yankees are shooting for new marks in two base hits and in stolen bases they are proving very helpful to their teams.

Webb cleared two doubles yesterday to bring his total for the season up to 47. He is only 17 short of the major league record of 64 set by George Burns of Cleveland in 1926 and has 60 games left on schedule in which to get them. To yesterday's pair, Webb added two singles for a perfect day at bat which made him one of the big factors in Boston's 8 to 1 triumph over the Detroit Tigers.

The other star in the pitching of Horace Lisenbee, who held his rivals to three hits.

Stolen base No. 41 by Chapman was of little assistance to the Yankees yesterday when the Chicago White Sox staged an eighth inning uprising that drove three Yankee pitchers to cover, netted eleven runs and won the game 14 to 12 after the Yankees had gained a 10-3 lead. But at other times his steals have done better for his team. Chapple still is far short of Ty Cobb's modern base stealing mark of 96 but he already has completed more thefts than any American league player in the past five years.

Simmons Big Show

Al Simmons was the big part of the show at Philadelphia where the Athletics maintained their eleven game lead over Washington by downing St. Louis, 6 to 3. Simmons started the winning rally in the eighth with his fifteenth homer of the season and gave Bob Grove, who had relieved Earnshaw, his twenty-first pitching victory. In a like manner, Joe Cronin of Washington came to the aid of Sad Sam Jones, while Jones pitched a six hit game against Cleveland. Cronin helped bring the count up to 3 to 1 by clearing the bases with a triple in the fifth inning, in which the Senators scored five runs.

The Boston Braves, groggy but game, put up another great battle against the St. Louis Cardinals, leaders of the National league, but lost by a 1 to 0 count. It was the third straight game of the series lost by the Braves. Cleveland, Phil Collins, The New York Giants clung to their place a half game behind by downing the Pittsburgh Pirates 6 to 2 on a series of late rallies. Ervin Brame held the Giants in check for six innings of a duel with Carl Hubbell but beat forced him out and Spencer proved comparatively easy.

Aided by home runs by Blair and Hensley, the Chicago Cubs held second place by beating the Phillies 5 to 3. Charlie Root did his bit toward winning his fourth straight game by outpitching Phil Collins. The New York Giants clung to their place a half game behind by downing the Pittsburgh Pirates 6 to 2 on a series of late rallies. Ervin Brame held the Giants in check for six innings of a duel with Carl Hubbell but beat forced him out and Spencer proved comparatively easy.

Brooklyn dropped a game behind its three rivals as the Cincinnati Reds took a 5 to 4 decision with a ninth inning rally. Just after the Robins had tied the score, Nick Culp doubled, and Tony Cuccinello, who batted in three runs, singled him home.

Kaukauna—Twenty-three Kaukauna youths left Wednesday for the Citizen's Military Training camp at Fort Snelling, Minn.

All expenses to the camp and while attending it are paid by the government. This year's camp lasts from July 30 to August 8. Railroad fare to the camp is paid by the boys, and when they arrive at the camp they are reimbursed. All civilian clothing is taken from the youths when they arrive and returned to them at the end of the camp period.

Kaukauna's quota for the camp this year includes nearly the whole county quota, so the remaining group from the county will go to Fort Sheridan, Ill. WARNS FARMERS ABOUT FAKE STOCK BUYERS

Madison—(P)—Commissioner William Renk, of the state department of agriculture and markets, has issued a warning against fake stock buyers victimizing farmers in the state. He said information shows that these buyers are purchasing cattle from farmers, loading the animals directly onto trucks, and paying for them with checks, later found to be worthless. "Farmers are urged to avoid the risk of loss by dealing with responsible local shippers or with their cooperative livestock shipping association," he said.

TALL CORN MENACE TO INDIANA MOTORISTS

Marion, Ind. —(P)—Iowa may be the state where the tall corn grows, but it also gets pretty high down in Indiana.

So high, in fact, that it has obstructed the view of the roads at corners of two persons and injuries to eight others in automobile accidents within the last three days, were attributed to the tall corn.

County authorities began a campaign to eliminate this danger next year. They will ask farmers to plant some smaller crop, such as potatoes, at the corners of cornfields.

The art of glassmaking is one of the oldest on earth. According to Pliny, the ancient Phoenicians first discovered how to make it, but according to Egyptologists the Egyptians made sham jewels of glass at least 5000 or 6000 B. C.

INSECTS AT WORK ON BROWN-CO CROPS

Grasshoppers Aid Drought in Killing Stands of Grain, Vegetables

BY W. F. WINSEY In the drouth area of Brown-co there is no pasture at all for farm animals except in a few sweet clover and alfalfa fields. Most of the small grain, not over a 30 per cent crop on account of the drouth and hot winds was bitten off by grasshoppers and is lying on the ground. Dried up this grain could not have yielded over 10 to 15 bushels per acre if the pests had not done their destructive work. A large part of small grain harvested will not be threshed.

The yields of timothy and its mixtures in the drouth area ranged from one-fourth to one-half a ton per acre with a few exceptions in the way of larger yields. Ninety per cent of the corn has been injured beyond repair by rains and is now being finished by the grasshoppers. The pests are destroying all remaining green spots even if the green is the decoration of Canada thistles.

Potatoes, sugar beets table beets, beans, cucumbers and all other vegetables are in no better condition than the principal dairy crops. These also have been attacked by grasshoppers.

The crop conditions are so bad, that the milk flow has fallen off 75 per cent and a large proportion of the farmers, hopeless, are considering the sale of their cattle as their stored feed is getting short and they lack the money to buy feed. In 50 years of continuous farming in this drouth area, old settlers say that they never saw crop conditions worse nor more hopeless than at the present time.

A survey shows that 14,000,000 of the 16,500,000 inhabitants of Mexico are either full-blooded Indians or of part Indian blood.

MOON of DELIGHT by Margaret Bell Houston

SYNOPSIS: Because Jason Divitt knows she was a stowaway on the ship where Umberto, his employee, had found her, Juanita Basara's fear of exposure keeps her a prisoner in his New Orleans gambling house. Divitt and his wife, Molly, are kind to her, and the dwarf, Gabreau, Conchita's son, nearly kills Umberto when he forces his embraces on Juanita. The Turkish disguise she wears as she sells cigarettes has intrigued Adrian Fouche, better known as the man in the moon, who has lived in Turkey, to speak to her in Turkish. In their party are Kirk Stander and his grandmother, Mrs. Belaise. As Ledbetter jests with the veiled Juanita, a newcomer, Senor Basara of Mexico City, joins the group. Juanita, frightened, is about to run.

Chapter 8
A KISS IN TIME
THE man beside Adrian Fouche caught Juanita's hand, babbling softly in the strange tongue. He turned to the newcomer.

"I was just saying, Senor," he observed, "that she is beautiful as an hour and fragrant as the jasmine flower, and in spite of loyalty to the noblest sheik in New Orleans, I could love her to distraction. This is the prologue to the raising of the curtain on the most glorious spectacle this side the Bosphorus."

Senor Basara smiled, his glance leaving Juanita an instant and traveling about the room. Juanita lowered her face, closing her eyes. Ledbetter began again his soft jargon. Adrian spoke now in a fiery aside.

"I didn't bring you here to hold her hand and make love. I brought you to make a date for me. You said you could pull off her veil in a way that looked accidental. Now do it."

Illness shot through Juanita. Ledbetter had released her hand and she drew from him, her eyes encountering Kirk Stander's. Stander had been dividing his interest between their by-play and Mrs. Belaise's game. He was looking at Juanita now, smiling friendly. The exchange of glances lasted only an instant, yet a swift courage had entered Juanita when she looked again at Ledbetter. She had felt that she would fall if she tried to move. She knew now that she could not fall before a man's friendly, smiling eyes. She could move now—she could get away. But there was Divitt watching her.

Quickly her hand moved over her tray. She selected a rose and, bending over Ledbetter, thrust it through his buttonhole, then lightly, swiftly, left a kiss upon his astonished cheek—a kiss through the mesh and spangles of her veil, yet nevertheless, a kiss.

She was gone. Molly was smiling at her where she stood in front of the cashier's cage.

"Honey, that was great. Eric Ledbetter's got a million, and this is his first look-in. I thought for a minute you were going to frost him. What's the matter?"

"I'm ill. I can't stay."

Molly saw the dilated eyes, the hands that trembled at the edge of the tray. She set the tray on a table.

"He has apologized," she said. "Nothing would be better by Gabreau's killing somebody."

"It is because Divitt make him do it. Divitt say somebody make you understand dat he gon' pool off yo' veil, so you go 'way. Divitt say it hurt Turk inside modesties when somebody pool off dey veils. Ledbetter say he beg of you pardons. He will never do dat if you will come back. So he tek out his pen and write. Adrian Fouche say so too. But they laugh and I not know what he write."

Odd that Gabreau had not suspected he would write in Turkish.

"Is he there yet?"

"For why should he go? He think you come back and kiss him some mo'." Deadder man have got. De man what they call 'senor' He have gone to ketch his boat."

Juanita breathed again. When Gabreau said huskily, "You will not do it?" O'U will not kiss no man?" she answered quickly, "No Gabreau" scarcely knowing what she said. . . . So it was accident that he had come here, one of those twists of the shuttle that seemed to give significance to the whole design. And he had not even suspected, since he had gone away, (Copyright, Dodd, Mead & Co.)

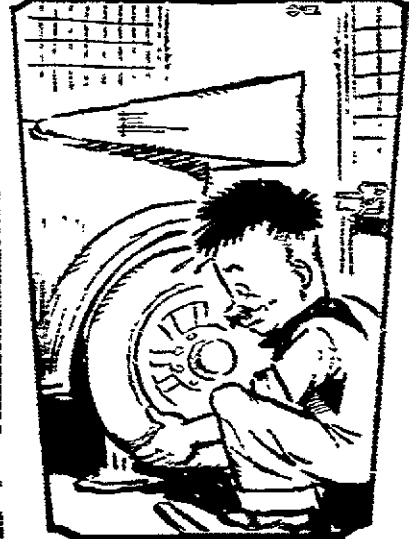

Divitt's game is under the roulette table—a strange game, too, perplexed Juanita decides tomorrow.

NO JURISDICTION AT CAPITAL ON WAGE QUESTION

But President Is Making Every Effort to Prevent Cuts Where Possible

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1931 by Post Pub. Co.
Washington (CPA)—The administration has no power to interfere with wage-cutting and officials know it but they are nevertheless expressing the hope and even the wish that present wages be maintained.
Secretary Lamont's letter to Representative Condon of Rhode Island conceding that in some instances wage cuts are expedient is being seized upon to prove an inconsistency between the position of the secretary of commerce and the president if not a change, to be sure, in Mr. Hoover's attitude.
The truth is, national politics and the 1932 election have much more to do with the problem of wage cuts than economics. The administration cannot encourage or acquiesce in wage cuts without incurring serious political consequences. It is denied, of course, that any politics enters into the question, as administrative officials defend their point of view entirely on the ground that decreased wages means decreased purchasing power and certainly does not help the country out of its depression.

Claim No Alternative
But the companies which are in severe straits and which have already cut dividends and salaries of their executives and are still in danger of financial collapse say that they have no alternative but to cut payrolls. It is this extreme type of case to which Mr. Lamont was referring and not the general principle of deflating wages to maintain dividends as was so often suggested when the business depression started.
Mr. Hoover's remarks on wages were made in December, 1929, when the depression began to alarm business leaders. They agreed then to preserve wage schedules but they did not visualize a long drawn out depression and a decline in the markets for their products. Many companies minded of the president's request did not change the wage price at all but cut down the number of hours or days of employment. This was called the "stagger system" and was adopted to provide as much employment to as many people as possible but actually it operated as a wage reduction.

For the last several months administration officials have been hearing about the advice which bankers were supposed to be giving their customers about the need for reducing wages in order to get better balance sheets.

Heed Banker's Advice
Much indignation has been voiced against bankers in the attempt to put the process of balancing books and keeping out of the red has caused individual firms, just the same, to heed the advice of bankers and cut wages.

So a deflation of labor has been going on right along, defended, of course, as an emergency only and insisted upon as the only way to keep solvent. The government has no power over the wage scale, except on work done for the government itself. The last congress put a provision in the public buildings appropriations that government contracts should be let at the highest wages prevailing in the district where the work was to be undertaken. Generally speaking there is no jurisdiction over wages on the part of the government. But an administration that argues for retention of present wages has considerable influence with business and certainly wins the friendship of organized labor even if individual businesses do about as they please anyway.

New York (CPA)—H. G. Wells called Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler

"the champion international visitor and retriever of foreign orders and degrees." The implication that Dr. Butler sought such traffic with nobility is unjust, for the fact is that the rich and great of all nations crash in on Dr. Butler whenever he goes. "It was my good fortune to be in Vienna and actually dining with the minister of foreign affairs," is the start of his dispatch to the New York Times, wireless ahead of his boat landing Tuesday.

Dr. Schober the Viennese minister, is just an added starter among the long list of world celebrities whom Dr. Butler has known intimately. They include all the American presidents of his time from Benjamin Harrison on Gladstone Kaiser Wilhelm, Lenin, Lloyd George, Salisbury, Austen Chamberlain, Balfour, and a host of popes, emperors, kings and dictators.

Theodore Roosevelt called him "Nicholas Miraculous Butler." He is that and more. Scarcely out of short pants, he rushed out to the bad lands and excavated the unimpaired and the mesquite, to his immediate date and widespread renown. An infant prodigy, he habited in Greek and at 24 was professor of philosophy at Columbia, the youngest professor in the history of the university. Twenty-nine years ago he succeeded Seth Low as president of Columbia and the old campus has been humming ever since. It had 4,000 students then and it has 40,000 now.

One of the great Republican personalities of the last half century, he has figured in the main events of all the national conventions of recent years. His big chance came in 1920. When Harding was nominated, Dr. Butler said some blistering words about "oil kings" and General Wood called him "a liar and a faker." Dr. Butler apologized.

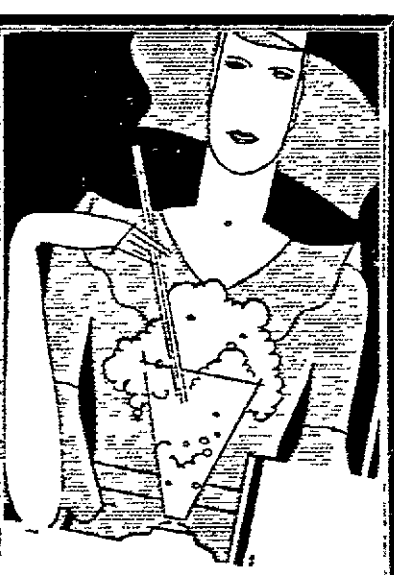

Recent years have marked Dr. Butler as charming a liberal course. Lashed by his enemies as "a little brother to the rich" he has become the Jeremiah of capitalist nations, crying woe on the banks and chambers unless something is done for the common man. He is perhaps the nation's outstanding foe of prohibition. His literary output is prodigious and his massive energies still unflagging. Any biographer attempting anything less than a five-foot shelf on Dr. Butler will have the task of painting a thumb nail miniature of the grand canyon.

The bulky, stooped figure of James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel corporation, is under the world beat.

On May 22, Mr. Farrell upset the amenities of the American Iron and Steel Institute by a blistering attack on wage cutting. He was running true to form. A day laborer for nine years early in his career, he has since assuming leadership of the steel industry, exercised a steady pressure for the highest possible wage schedules.

When he was 15 his father, a sea captain living at New Haven, Conn., sailed away and never came back. Young James went to work in the New Haven wire mills for $4.65 a week. Six years later he removed to Pittsburgh. He became first a salesman, then manager for the Pittsburgh Wire Co. of Braddock, Pa.

With the crash of 1893, he went abroad and dug up new orders in Europe. Energetic selling in the world markets thereafter had much to do with his rise. He is six feet tall, weighs 230 pounds and has steel line eyes. He works seven hours a day and is not interested in the theater, music, books or art. He has no hobbies, except skipping a sail

PLAN COURT BATTLE IN ESTATE OF LATE MARY F. HENDERSON

Foster-Granddaughter Starts Action to Break Will of Missouri Woman

Washington (AP)—Fit setting for a prize mystery or detective story was the 16th street home of the late Mary F. Henderson, 90-year-old social arbiter around whose will-or-wills—a big court battle looms.
The aged widow of Senator John B. Henderson from Missouri left an estate estimated between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000.

In a will dated November 17, 1930, Mrs. Henderson cut off Mrs. Beatrice Wholean, who she claimed was only a "foster-granddaughter," with only $100, but left her young Japanese secretary, Jesse Shima, $200,000. Court action to break this will appears imminent, and already five other wills have been brought to light.

Secret papers kept locked away for years and only recently revealed would play a part in any court proceedings.

In the foreground looms the suave, neat figure of the Japanese secretary who has been the close associate of Mrs. Henderson for six years.

Their association was an unusual one, the failing dowager seeming to cling to him for both advice and companionship.

Complete Trust
She apparently reposed complete trust and confidence in him, in the mind of what she seemed to feel was a rising tide of stealthy intrigue.

Mention of a former maid, "Valerie," whom Mrs. Henderson accused of spying on her, could rouse her to excitement, friends say. But always the soothing voice of Shima: "Just forget her, think of other things," calmed her.

The quarrel between Mrs. Henderson and her adopted grand-daughter came last spring when Mrs. Wholean brought suit to prove her grandmother from giving her fine 16th street residence to the government as a home for the Vice President should it be acceptable.

Incensed, the white-haired dowager produced papers which had been sealed for six years, purporting to show that Mrs. Wholean was not a real granddaughter but an adopted foundling.

PRACTICAL JOKER AROUSES IRE OF LAKE COTTAGERS

A practical joker aroused the ire of about 50 cottagers along the north shore of Lake Winnebago at 11:30 Tuesday night with his frantic calls for help from the swimming pier in front of Waverly Beach.
Cottagers were tumbled from their beds and gathered along the shore in large numbers upon hearing the cries. Several parties immediately took to their boats to search for the supposedly drowning man, only to learn that they were the victims of the joker, who thought it was great fun entertaining other members of his swimming party with his cries for help.

LONGER SKIRTS FOR WINTER AT EXHIBIT

Sweeping Lines of 'Seventies Combined With Demands of Modern Girl

Paris (AP)—Longer skirts for the winter of 1931-32 were exhibited in the flower decked salons of one of the foremost dressmakers last night during a brilliant fashion parade in which the sweeping lines of the sophisticated seventies were combined with the demands of the twentieth century girl.

From daytime coats and dresses eight or nine inches from the floor to evening wraps which touched the heels and evening gowns that trailed the carpets, the show decreed hemlines several inches lower for the forthcoming winter.

A new fabric called vellada—a cross between velvet and duvetyne, combining the dull sheen of one with the drapable qualities of the other—was outstanding among materials. Vellada was used for both luxurious evening wraps and draped evening gowns.

Fine coats followed slim semitights and long and many were belted and flared with luxurious fur cuffs and collars often so wide that they extended over the shoulders. Black, dark red, bottle green and smoke blue were the outstanding colors, while black, gray and brown astrakhan, and leopard, beaver and fox were the favorite furs.

Furs were used in every conceivable way. There were fur roll collars almost high enough to eclipse the wearer's head, fur bands on coat hems, fur bibs on coats and dresses, fur trims on hats and tiny

Evening colors were pompadour red, perruque blue, garnet red, golden yellow, bottle green and black.

Short gloves, four inches above the wrist, were worn with all evening gowns.

RADIO LEADER WARNS PUBLIC AGAINST TELEVISION RACKET

Regiments of Salesmen Sell Stock in Legendary "Billion Dollar Industry"

BY ROBERT MACK
Copyright, 1931, By Cons. Press
Washington—Warnings to the public to beware of high-pressure salesmen offering television stock with promises of fabulous profits in this new "billion dollar industry" were sounded today by O. H. Caldwell, former federal radio commissioner, and a leader in the radio industry.

A gigantic stock-selling racket, Mr. Caldwell said, has grown out of the widespread publicity given visual broadcasting in recent months. Already these activities have attracted the attention of the department of justice, the district attorney's office and the better business bureaus of many cities.

Regiments of stock salesmen are being hired to call on the such lists and sell securities under the pretense of letting the investor share in legendary profits of this new "billion dollar industry." Mr. Caldwell declared. "New television corporations are being organized daily in Delaware and other states, in a frantic rush to get in on the present bonanza of television stock selling."

Two years ago, when television showed a spurt within the laboratory, federal operatives squelched similar stock-selling enterprises on the Pacific coast. In recent weeks the Post Office department has banned the sending of television "tipster sheets" through the mails.

"That television is making progress cannot be denied," Mr. Caldwell, as well as officials of the government advise thorough investigation before investment in television stock. After his survey he said that reputable wall street firms are making open inquiries among radio men seeking television companies to promote.

"Before any layman takes hard-earned dollars and invests them in television securities, he should inform himself about the status of the television art and the likelihood of improvement, and should also insist on witnessing a demonstration to observe the conditions for himself," Mr. Caldwell advised.

"The basic principle of all present television machines was invented back in 1857 by a Russian named Nipkow and except to apply recent details that basic principle remains the same. This point-by-point method involves the sending of enormous high frequencies over radio or wire circuits and even with half-a-million cycles per second, the picture will be something like that of a poor newspaper halftone, and far less satisfying than a home movie. "Present systems are all surprisingly identical in method and results

Mathematical Eye Solves Problems For Scientists

Tucson, Ariz. (AP)—The University of Arizona has a robot mathematical eye that solves in a few minutes problems over which a mathematician would labor for hours.

The eye is a combination of mirrors and lenses. Its problems are solved by placing them in a beam of light, which reflects them to a scale where the result can be read. These problems are not tables of figures, but the familiar mathematical symbol known as a graph, or "curve," a plotted line representing such things as the fuel consumption rate of an automobile engine, or the average depth of a river.

Especially adept is the eye at discovering in these curves any hidden when the same phenomenon recurs regularly. Examples are the sunspot cycles or rainfall cycles in a period of 50 years. The eye discloses these cycles readily, whereas the mathematical method requires working them out by the system of "least squares."

The eye was invented by an astronomer, Dr. A. D. Douglass, director of Steward observatory, to save himself the tedious computations. It is too large for his observatory space, and he keeps it in the basement of the university athletic building.

He traces the "curve" on a piece of manila paper about a yard long and then cuts it out with scissors. This gives him a piece of paper whose top edge is a wavy line. The edge is not across the beam of light. The amount of light passing from the beam to the calculator varies according to the shape of the curve.

The modified beam passes into a series of lenses and reflectors to fall ultimately upon a small mirror. There focussing produces a shadowy make human wheelbarrows 50 feet in the air.

The fair is being held on Sunday this year so that thousands of people unable to come on week days may attend. The largest race program ever held at Seymour will be offered this year and community exhibits, 4-H club exhibits will be more in evidence.

STOCK MARKET PRICES SLUMP TO LOWER LEVEL

Adverse Dividend and Earnings Announcements Are Blamed for Setbacks

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Editor
New York (AP)—The stock market was driven to the lowest levels since the middle of June today by the adverse dividend and earnings announcements of the largest steel maker.

Trading quickened considerably from recent low levels, but was in limited volume, judged by standards of recent years. The decline was one of the sharpest of the year, however, with numerous losses of 2 to nearly 10 points appearing in prominent issues.

U. S. Steel common opened 5 points lower, then extended its loss to more than 7, in response to the unexpectedly sharp reduction in the annual dividend rate to $4 from $7. Bethlehem Steel, directors of which meet for dividend action tomorrow, dropped more than 5 points to a new low for the present stock.

Nickel Plate, trading for the first time this week, appeared more than 9 points lower in response to uncertainty over continuance of its dividend. Auburn lost more than 9 points, and miscellaneous issues declined about 3 to 6 included American Telephone, American Can, Allied Chemical, Eastman, New York Central, Westinghouse Electric, North American, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and New Haven, General Electric and International Telephone lost 2.

Despite the deepened gloom over the unprofitable state of the basic steel industry, the market showed a tendency to moderate quickening of steel mill activity, an unusual development for midsummer. Most estimates placed output at 32 per cent of capacity, against 30 per cent a week previously. The improvement seemed to be due entirely to increased takings of structural steel. The automobile industry is drastically curtailing its activity and August is likely to record the lowest output of the year, so the steel makers are not banking on any early increase in business from that quarter.

The railroads, normally among the leading customers of the steel plants, have limited their buying to bare necessities. U. S. Steel's quarterly earnings report, showing a decline in income from actual operations of only 6 cents per share of preferred stock, had repercussions throughout the leading financial centers of the world, even unsettling the Paris market, although the stock is not traded there.

A leading financial news service estimated that earnings for the second year will set a new low record for the 30-year history of this premier industrial enterprise.

The action of the directors in finally making a drastic slash in the dividend, and ordering a downward revision of office and office workers salaries, was regarded in several quarters as a constructive move, however, buying a step nearer the completion of necessary reflation. The fact that no action was taken on wages was variously interpreted. Some observers felt that the corporation regarded the future with enough hope to feel that a wage reduction could be avoided.

Money was a little firmer, presumably reflecting the month and a quarter of low interest rates, officially at 13 per cent, with virtually no concessions in the outside market.

TRADE RESTRICTED ON N. Y. BOND MART

New York (AP)—The bond market sagged today in restricted trading in sympathy with the weakness in stocks. A few exceptions to the general trend appeared in high grade issues but the decline was general in all groups.

German 5s and 7s were two of the most active bonds, with the latter dropping lower gradually. Some basis of encouragement could be found in the fact many of the losses between sales were narrow. French 7s of 1949 reflected a steady demand for their firmness and volume. However the limited turnover in the great bulk of the foreign and other groups was as significant as the lower prices. Belgian 7s of 1950, Bolivian 7s and Uruguayan 6s scored some of the larger losses.

Baltimore and Ohio 4s of 1950, St. Paul 5s of 2000, Nickel Plate 4s of 1978, Pennsylvania series D 4s and St. Louis San Francisco 4s of 1978 were among the rails showing some of the large declines. Rails continued to be more active than public utility and industrial issues. The latter group participated in the downward movement, however.

American Smelting 5s, Chile Copper 5s, Goodyear 5s, International Match 5s, Youngsdown Sheet and Tube 5s and Phillips Petroleum 5s lost ground.

Public utilities did not drop so sharply as other loans, possibly because they were less active than railroad, industrial and foreign obligations.

Stock privilege obligations slumped almost without exception in sympathy with the break in stocks.

BUYERS FORCE RISE IN PRICES ON HOGS

Increase Fails to Attract Supplies — 14,000 Head Brought to Market

Chicago (AP)—Higher prices for hogs last week failed to attract increased supplies, and buyers, after holding the market firm at the season's high point for three days, were able to force a further advance today.

Livestock and butchers, on a run of 14,000 including 5,000 shipped straight to packers, moved to ship pens and small killers as strong to 10c higher levels after the opening rounds. A few loads reached $3.35, the highest price paid here since April 3, and most of the selected heavy weights cleared at $3.10 to $3.25. Packing sows were steady to a shade stronger.

Moderate cattle receipts, estimated officially at 9,500, were in line with trade requirements, and steady prices were quoted. Discrimination against grassers was again apparent. Packers received ten cars of cattle on through billings. Calves were wanted, broad demand having forced the best ones up to $3.50.

A bulge in the upper hand today, buyers pushed the upper hand today. Killers reported 2,100, direct lambs out of the run of 13,000. The trade was slow at the start, and weaker quotations were in vogue.

SHORTAGE OF CORN BOOSTS MART PRICES

Decrease of 6,000,000 Bushels of Grain Reported in Chicago

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Associated Press Market Editor
Chicago (AP)—Corn suddenly soared 10 cents a bushel today for grain to be delivered on Chicago July contracts, which expire in the next 48 hours. A shortage of more than 6,000,000 bushels was officially reported to be outstanding in these contracts. Failure of expected rains and word that much corn in Iowa, the country's chief corn producing state, was starting to fire contributed to the upward flight of prices.

Rallying tendencies in wheat were assisted by corn price gains that became general after an interval of wavering. Absence of rain over the greater part of the corn belt acted as a stimulus to buy. Bulls laid stress also on Minneapolis reports indicating the worst crop failure that South Dakota had ever experienced, a result of heat, drought and grasshoppers.

Advices regarding South Dakota said that prior to recent hot weather the crops of the western part of the state had been burned out, but the eastern half was in good condition. Scorching temperatures of late, however, with drought, destroyed corn in many districts, and in others cut probable yields 50 per cent. In addition, grasshoppers infestation has become a damage factor of the first magnitude, denuding numerous farms of all vegetation. Oats prices sympathized with corn market advances.

Grain Notes

Chicago—Wheat statistics are a little more two-sided, but the trade apparently is not ready to accept the situation as likely to bring about a decided change for the better in the near future. Low prices are due to large supplies and poor demand. Until these conditions are changed it is said there can be no permanent advance in prices. Hedging pressure is likely to increase within a few days, especially should the reduction in freight rates in the southwest become effective Aug. 1. There has been an enormous movement from the farms in the southwest so far this season, but accumulations in the past few weeks have not equalled those of last year, which were abnormal. Special attention was called to the commercial stocks of wheat, which are 225,000,000 bushels, compared with 143,000,000 bushels last year, an excess of 82,000,000 bushels.

Winnipeg said that the break of 3 cents there early was on stop loss selling for local and also selling for Chicago traders. No support came from outside interests.

"Lack of speculation and hesitancy to go short make for immediate easiness," says George E. Saunders of J. S. Bache and Co., "we regard wheat, however, as peculiarly an accumulating market and much higher prices are forecast faithfully by existing values, indicating tremendous decrease in domestic production, as already certified by big acreage decreases elsewhere, and also in the spring wheat areas."

REVISE PRICES ON N. Y. CURB MARKET

U. S. Steel Corporation News Proves Disappointing to Traders

New York (AP)—Curb prices underwent a downward revision today, but the decline was mostly moderate. The U. S. Steel news, for which traders have been waiting since last week, proved disappointing and considerable selling appeared at the opening and in the early dealings. Activity thereafter, however, slackened and by afternoon the market had reverted to dullness.

The unexpected rise in crude oil output for the past week, due to operations in the troublesome east Texas field, gave a heavy tone to the petroleum group. Standard of Indiana gave up the better part of a point, while Cities Service went to a new low for the movement, just below 10c. Gulf, on the other hand, firmed but its gain was temporary.

Pressure against the utilities was not particularly severe. Electric Bond and Share was the most active issue of that description, yielding more than a point. American and Foreign Power, however, showed a decline. American Can and Electric, American Superpower and Brazilian Tractor were also heavy.

Thinly traded specialties dropped. Aluminum of America and International Clear Machinery lost several points. Midland Steel and Newmont Mining softened. Deere broke to a new low for the year when the dividend omission was announced, but then rallied on short covering.

The stock has recently been weak, discounting the news. Motor shares were fairly steady. Call money renewed on the curb at 2 per cent.

New York (AP)—An issue of $10,000,000 West Pennsylvania Power company first mortgage 4 per cent bonds, due 1961 has been purchased by W. C. Langley and company. The proceeds will be used to retire $7,000,000 of 5 1/2 per cent bonds and for other corporate purposes. It is expected that these bonds will be offered shortly.

The Iron Age composite price for steel scrap has again advanced being now $4.42 a gross ton against $3.56 a week ago and $3.08 a month ago. The finished steel and pig iron composite prices are unchanged, at 2.115 cents a pound and $15.54 a ton, respectively.

Directors of Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation have omitted the quarterly dividend of 50 cents due on the common stock at this time.

Deere and company, directors have omitted the quarterly dividend of 30 cents on the common stock due to be paid October 1. The regular quarterly disbursement of 35 cents on the preferred was authorized, payable Sept. 1 to stockholders of record Aug. 15.

Save Arms directors have declared a quarterly dividend of 25 cents a share on the common stock, payable Sept. 1 to stockholders of record Aug. 15, placing the stock on a $1 annual basis against 2 previously.

Production of electricity by the Electric Light and Power Industry of the United States for the week ended July 25 totaled 1,650,353 kilowatt hours. Although it showed an increase over the previous week, the total was 1.9 percent below the like week last year. The Atlantic Seaboard showed an increase of 1.4 per cent above last year. The central industrial region, outlined by Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, St. Louis, and Milwaukee, registered a decrease of 4.5 percent, although the Chicago district showed a decrease of only eight tenths of one percent. The Pacific coast showed a gain of two tenths of one percent over a year ago.

The American Laundry Machinery company today issued a report showing net profits of $277,355 for the first six months of the year, equal to 43 cents a share on common stock. During the first of 1930 the company showed net profit of $1,042,506. The company announced a dividend of 50 cents a share for the quarter payable Sept. 1 to stockholders of record Aug. 20.

Warner-Quinlan Co. reported consolidated net loss of $95,542 for the first half this year, compared with net loss of $167,351 for the corresponding period last year.
